SECTION II: TO BE COMPLETED BY FACULTY ADVISOR

The student identified above is applying to the Wharton Summer Program for Undergraduate Research (SPUR). The program is an intensive, 10-week experience on campus that introduces highly motivated students to the design and performance of a research project. The primary experience involves the in-depth exploration of a particular research question under the guidance of a faculty advisor. Additionally, the program forms a community of scholars in which students can hear research presentations by faculty members and doctoral students, learn about resources for research, and learn vicariously about other areas of inquiry through the sharing of research experiences.

The student has provided/will provide a copy of their proposal for your review. The faculty member's role is to advise the student over the 10-week summer program through meetings on a bi-weekly basis (or as mutually convenient, consistent with making appropriate progress on the project) and to approve the final written report due in mid-September. If you agree to advise the student in pursuing this project, please sign this form and email it to the student with a copy to isaglass@wharton.upenn.edu.
