An Introductory Guide to
Wharton Undergraduate Student Clubs

Wharton Council E-Booklet
2020-2021
Dear Wharton Students,

Welcome to another exciting year for clubs at Wharton! Thank you for taking the time to learn about how our clubs, which are open to all Penn undergraduates, enhance the student life experience throughout your time at Wharton and Penn. Through full-day conferences, weekly events, general body meetings, on-campus recruiting facilitation, and more, our clubs and club leaders provide endless opportunities for you to engage and explore your interests within Wharton. From marketing consulting to stock pitching to treks to New York City, clubs serve to educate outside the classroom while also building community and camaraderie.

This packet is a great reference to help you find which Wharton clubs and organizations are the best fit for you. We strongly encourage you to attend Clubbing Night to talk with club representatives and find out how to get involved, attend initial general body meetings, see what communities you identify with, and overall have fun! More information about Clubbing Night will be coming soon. If you don’t want to join anything yet, no problem - wait until Spring or join in another semester.

Every club offers New Student Programming (NSP) events or initiatives, which are designed specifically for new students like yourselves to help you learn more about the club and also join a community as soon as you get on campus. On each club’s page below, you will find details about their NSP initiative. NSPs are a great way to get involved, and we highly encourage that you take advantage of them! Additionally, each club has a page on Campus Groups, Wharton’s online interface for club-student interaction. We recommend you join clubs’ and Wharton Council’s campus groups page, as it is a great way to stay tuned of upcoming events.

We hope that you will find this packet of information useful as you begin to explore how you will engage the Wharton club community. The Wharton Council oversees this body of clubs and we hope to serve as your resource as you find your place at Wharton. Please do not hesitate to reach out to us or the Wharton Undergraduate Division with any questions or concerns!

See you at Clubbing Night!

The Wharton Council – whartoncouncil.org
The Wharton Council’s mission is to foster a more complete co-curricular experience for the entire Wharton undergraduate community. Our mission has two parts: clubs and traditions. The Wharton Council supports our clubs through funding, recognition and events such as the Wharton Undergraduate Leadership Forum and Clubbing Awards Night. We also foster community through our school-wide social events called Traditions such as the Business of Life Lecture, Wharton 5k, and the Wharton Formal.

The Wharton Council recruits six members from the first-year class at the start of each spring semester. We will host an information session in December and another in January. We have an application, two meet-and-greets and two rounds of interviews.

For more information, please visit our website at whartoncouncil.org!
Each year, Wharton Council presents a number of awards to undergraduate clubs that have excelled in particular areas of student life. Wharton Council would like to recognize the following clubs for their exceptional achievements during the 2019-2020 year:

Best Large Club:
Wharton Asia Exchange

Best Small Club:
Wharton Undergraduate Entrepreneurship Club

Most Collaborative Event:
Wharton Women (In collaboration with Delta Sigma Pi)
“Personal Investment Workshop”

Most Innovative Event:

“Annual Wharton Latino Rose Sale”

Best Event:
Wharton Undergraduate Healthcare Club
“Wharton Undergraduate Healthcare Conference”

Best New Student Program:
Wharton Undergraduate Private Equity and Venture Capital Club
“NSP Series”
2020-2021 Club Recruitment Policies

Beginning in Fall 2020, all written applications for club recruitment will be submitted through a centralized application platform. Students will be able to select to apply to the clubs they are interested in, though students should not be applying to all the clubs. This application will include a short personal statement (150-word limit) and club specific questions (500-word limit across all club specific questions).

Additionally, applications for all positions may now be due no earlier than midnight, September 20. Clubs may choose to recruit members past the first deadline through a second round of applications. In this case, applications for this second round of recruiting may be due no earlier than midnight, October 9.

For any questions regarding club recruitment policies, please visit our website at whartoncouncil.org.

Black Wharton Undergraduate Association (BW) is an organization dedicated to enhancing the collegiate experience and accelerating the professional aspirations of our members. In order to meet these goals, BW provides its members with internship information, interactive business conferences, community service opportunities, and alumni networking among other initiatives. BW holds monthly general body meetings (GBMs) to foster community and professionally develop members of the Black Penn community. BW is composed of high-potential students whose interests vary across numerous industries. Our organization serves as an intermediary between our diverse corporate sponsors and our members as well as a support system for our members’ academic, personal, and pre-professional endeavours.

Structure
The BW board is composed of the elected and appointed board members. The elected board comprises the President, VP of Finance, VP of Internal Affairs, VP of External Affairs, and VP of Corporate Development. The appointed board contains nine positions: Director of Member Development, Director of Community Service, Director of Alumni Relations, Director of Marketing, First-Year Liaison, and the Co-Chair(s) of the Howard E. Mitchell Memorial Conference and the Black Ivy League Business Conference, and the Chair of BW Consulting. The elected board members are decided by active BW members in a standard voting process. Each board member can elect to form a committee.

Starting in 2018, BW Consulting (BWC) was launched to provide free consulting services to minority-owned businesses in Philadelphia. Through these partnerships, BWC provides an opportunity for talented students to serve Black-owned businesses, make a positive impact in the Black community, and professionally develop as consultants.

Events
Howard E. Mitchell Memorial Conference (HEMM): Established in 1986, The HEMM Conference is held in honor of Dr. Howard E. Mitchell, a former professor at Penn dedicated to corporate social responsibility and diversity. This conference features a career fair from partner firms where students gain great exposure to a variety of industries.

Black Ivy League Business Conference (BILBCon): Established in 2016, BILBCon is a three-day conference whose purpose is to bring together ambitious and high-achieving minority students across all Ivy League institutions to offer a unique platform to collectively further their professional development.

Galvanizing Adolescents Toward a Legacy of Achievement (GALA): Launched in 2009, the GALA reaffirms BW’s commitment to civic engagement and corporate social responsibility. Each year, BW honors one local organization whose exemplary work supports, uplifts, and inspires members of our Philadelphia community.

First-Year Luncheon: Launched in 2006, the annual BW First-Year Luncheon serves as a kickoff to a new school year and an introduction to BW for first-years. The luncheon provides a chance for incoming first-years to foster a community amongst themselves and meet current BW members.

New Student Programming
Our incoming first-years are welcomed with the annual First-Year Luncheon where our first-years are introduced to the BW family and info sessions and GBMs where they have an opportunity to learn more about getting involved in BW.

Available Positions
In addition to becoming a board member and a general body member, students can also apply to one of the board committees. During the 2020-2021 term, BW will be recruiting for marketing, member development, and alumni relation committee members will be able to apply to join the BWUA Consulting committee as a Consultant working for a local Philadelphia business client or join the committee for BILBCon. Also, the Client Development and Consultant Development Committee are two BWC subcommittees that allow for BWC members to attain the resources and skills necessary to be successful consultants.

How to Join
Visit our website at www.blackwharton.com or email us at blackwharton@gmail.com to get involved.

For more information or questions regarding BW, contact Rachael Ozinegbe, President: rayoz@wharton.upenn.edu
We aim to promote the academic study and professional practice of marketing among University Pennsylvania students by providing a forum for students, field experts and community leaders to share their knowledge and creativity. In short, we’re the go to club for all things marketing.

Structure

MUSE consists of three parts: the executive board, committee members, and general body members. All 11 committees are recruiting in the fall – including our nationally award-winning Case Team and our Fortune 500 Consulting Teams. All schools/years/majors are encouraged to apply!

Opportunities

Consulting: Every semester, MUSE partners with ~8 businesses and ~5 nonprofits to provide professional for-profit and pro-bono consulting services. In the past, MUSE has worked with Coca-Cola, the WWF, and Merck. No prior experience or specific major necessary!

Conferences: We host two annual conferences. (1) MARC (Marketing, Advertising, Retail, Conference) which connects companies like Macy’s, L’Oreal, and more to undergraduate students for internships and jobs. (2) WUMC (Wharton Undergraduate Marketing Conference) provides a day of educational and networking opportunities for all students.

New Student Programming (NSP): For our NSP series, we will be hosting consulting camps and special opportunities to meet with executive board members! These will provide an opportunity to learn more about MUSE hands-on. MUSE will be focusing on marketing frameworks that are essential to consulting and case interviews.

And More: There’s still 8 more amazing committees, covering things like an annual case competition (past companies: vitaminwater, eBay, Hershey’s), web analytics, innovation, Social Impact, Finance, and more. Learn more here - there’s a place for everyone!

How to Join

We’ll have information sessions in the fall, and applications will be released that day. We highly recommend applying to multiple committees! For more information, contact Kristine Lai, President, at musepenn@gmail.com or visit our website at www.musepenn.org
Penn Actuarial Society provides a resource for the actuarial community at the University of Pennsylvania and to raise awareness about and foster interest in actuarial opportunities.

Structure
We have a relatively small and flat board which is consisted of President, Vice President, Treasurer, Corporate Communications Chair, Membership Chair, and Social Chair. We also have three committees, Corporate, Membership, and Social. All students interested in actuarial science or actuarial career, regardless of major and year, are welcome to apply to be a part of a committee or join as general members with a chance to join the board by the beginning of the spring semester.

Events

Employer Info Sessions (EIS): Alumni and actuarial professionals working in different actuarial industries come to represent their companies and brief about internship and full-time opportunities. Many of the sessions are scheduled in fall semester, and they are great start to learn about actuarial career track.

New Student Programming

Actuary 101: What is actuary? Why is “actuary” consistently ranked as best job by WSJ? This event introduces what actuaries do in the real world and advice on how students can better prepare themselves for this career at Penn. Students will also participate in a case study that mimics problems actuaries encounter in their careers.

Actuarial Careers: After learning more about the actuarial concentration at Penn, students can learn how actuaries apply their knowledge. Students will be introduced to the various paths that an actuary can take, from life insurance or health insurance to other unconventional actuarial careers.

How to Join

Applications for Corporate Committee Member, Membership Committee Member, and Social Committee Member will be available early fall through the PAS newsletter. For general membership, please inquire with the club leaders at Clubbing Night. Applications, openings, and deadlines for spring board positions will be announced after winter break.

For more information or questions regarding PAS, contact Gabriel Lozano, President:

The Penn Fashion Collective is an organization for anyone on Penn’s campus with a passion for fashion. Students with even the slightest interest are welcome to explore the various opportunities we supply to network, learn about, and experience the fashion industry through a multitude of perspectives. As the fashion hub on Penn’s campus, we in the Penn Fashion Collective are dedicated to giving fashion a voice in an otherwise pre-professionally driven environment. Part of our club functions as the CFDA of Penn, as we support and nurture new and emerging design talent to showcase in our annual fashion show. While we continue to develop a space for the creative side of the industry, we have grown to represent and connect Penn students with any and all of the countless opportunities the fashion industry provides.

Structure

Penn Fashion Collective is headed by an executive board comprised of President, Vice President of Finance and Corporate Sponsorship, Vice President of Marketing, Vice President of Events, and Vice President of Fashion Show. Vice Presidents lead committees of their own. The Finance, Marketing and Events Committees consist of approximately 5-10 people and the Fashion Show Committee consists of 30-40 people. The general body membership is roughly 100 members.

Available Positions

Positions available in the fall include general body members, as well as membership on the Marketing, Finance, Events, or Fashion Show Committees.

New Student Programming and Events

We host a variety of social events, internship panels, and speaker events with industry professionals. Over the years we have brought in several key players in the fashion world such as Vera Wang, Rebecca Minkoff, and Michael Kors as guest speakers. Our largest event is our annual spring fashion show. The show is an opportunity for students to be involved in all areas of fashion including styling, design, hair/makeup, production and backstage. We also organize the annual Penn Fashion Week in collaboration with Wharton Retail Club and Delta Sigma Pi.

How to Join

Everyone can join! Get updates on all of our events by joining our listserv at the club fair. A great first step to being more involved is attending our first GBM at the beginning of the semester. More information about the meeting will be sent via our listserv and posted on our Facebook page, at www.facebook.com/pennfashioncollective or our Instagram account @pennfashioncollective.

For more information or questions regarding PFC, contact us at pennfashioncollective@gmail.com.
Penn International Impact Consulting provides pro-bono consulting services to non-governmental organizations (NGOs) across the globe. By applying our learned business acumen, we partner with NGOs to create sustainable social impact via on-site and off-site consulting operations. We believe in scalable, measurable results. In our history, we have collaborated with over 50 NGOs from around the world on initiatives such as developing peace initiatives, building community infrastructure, and empowering abandoned women and children.

Structure

PIIC (pronounced “peak”) is organized into 6 consulting teams, each composed of roughly 4 Associate Consultants (ACs) and led by 2 Senior Consultants (SCs). Each team works with an NGO remotely (off-site) during the school year and travels to the NGO headquarters (on-site) during May for approximately three weeks. This past summer, we had planned four on-site trips to Cambodia, Guatemala, China, and Peru. We also have 2 off-site teams that don’t have an on-site trip for those who aren’t able to travel.

In addition, all PIIC Associate Consultants are responsible for working directly with the Executive Board and Senior Consultants to advance the mission of PIIC by organizing campus-wide events, managing PIIC branding, and assisting with corporate partnerships. ACs gain consulting experience throughout the school year and develop leadership experience sourcing and organizing international trips from the ground up. By joining PIIC, ACs can expect to gain skills including Business Development, Marketing, Design, and Business Strategy. ACs also participate in a number of training sessions led by alumni at top tier consulting organizations throughout the school year. No business or consulting experience is required!

New Student Programing

Please check our website and Facebook for additional information regarding NSP. Previous events have included a Careers in Consulting Panel, a Consulting Interview Workshop, an Impact Consulting Panel, and a Meet, Greet, & Eat.

How to Join

In the fall, we recruit for a new cohort of Associate Consultants. We recruit from all schools, years, and majors. Following two information sessions held during the beginning of September, the written application will open. If selected for a first round interview, candidates should expect to be assessed on their commitment to social impact, fit with the club culture, and communication skills. In the second round interview, candidates may be asked to showcase presentation skills and review a situational case. SC and Executive Board membership is reserved for returning PIIC consultants.

For more information or questions regarding PIIC and the application process (including example interview questions and an overview of the application process), check out our website by clicking here and Facebook (https://www.facebook.com/upennpiic), or feel free to contact Ella Schuster, President: ellals@wharton.upenn.edu
Penn Microfinance seeks to educate and empower students through partnerships with microfinance institutions, hands-on experiences, independent research and networking opportunities. Penn MFC strives to be an effective social impact group by establishing partnerships with microfinance institutions around the world to work on hands-on consulting projects during the year, followed by service trips over the summer. With these goals, we also host the first and largest undergraduate microfinance conference in the US.

Structure

1) President
2) Vice President
3) VP of Finance
4) VP of Outreach and Marketing
5) VP of Initiatives
6) VP of Communications
7) 5 Client Consulting Teams (led by Team Leaders)
8) Think Tank Director
9) Conference Director

Membership: All members of client consulting teams, Think Tank, and board are automatically members. In addition, there is general body membership through attendance of events, meetings, and developmental projects.

Events

_Penn Microfinance Conference:_ The conference is our largest event and we have held a conference every year since 2007. As part of the conference we bring in speakers to lead a discussion about various topics concerning microfinance, including distinguished keynote speakers and professors.

_Introduction to Microfinance Workshops:_ Through informational workshops and interactive sessions during general body meetings, we will be learning more about the current Microfinance landscape today while also hearing from our client project teams.

_Kiva Loan Fundraisers:_ Our Think Tank Division raises money through various fundraisers throughout the year, and the money goes towards giving out loan to Kiva, a micro-loan non-profit organization

How to Join

Applications are released after our first General Body Meeting in the fall and following applications there will be interviews in the next round. We will be recruiting new members for the 5 client consulting teams (South Africa, United States, India, Philippines, Latin America). Members of the client consulting teams will also play an integral part in the organization of our annual conference. For general body membership, questions, and more information please inquire at Clubbing Night or contact: Melissa Cui (President) – mel3939@wharton.upenn.edu
Penn Social Entrepreneurial Movement (PennSEM) is the leading educator in social impact and social enterprise models at Penn. We provide academic resources and real-world experiences for students to explore the field of social entrepreneurship. From teaching students about social entrepreneurship through discussions and immersion trips, leading consulting engagements with global social enterprises, helping students start their own social impact businesses to guiding students on developing their businesses, PennSEM endeavors to foster a tightly knit community of future social entrepreneurs.

STRUCTURE

1. Consulting – consultancy for real social enterprises. Our teams consult for different businesses, ranging from new ventures to $130+ billion investment management firms, offering robust recommendations and acquiring valuable skills and experiences.

2. Spire – a semester-long incubator program for students to start and hone their own social ventures from the ground up. The fellowship runs each semester and includes training sessions, start-up development materials, speaker presentations, and one-on-one mentorship. The fellowship aims to help students fundraise and scale their social businesses.

3. Outreach – organizes events on campus such as speaker series, roundtables, and workshops, as well as trips to social enterprises. We invite a diverse selection of speakers from different areas to provide insight into the field, and also connect interested students with appropriate resources and connections.

NEW STUDENT PROGRAMING

NSP events can include introductions to Social Impact Consulting and Social Entrepreneurship. Spire will lead two workshops each semester for any Penn student interested in learning about social impact ventures in general, solidifying a venture idea, or improving their own social impact venture.

EVENTS

Career Treks allow general body members to meet founding members of social enterprises and explore the landscape of social entrepreneurship in exciting locations. Past locations have included San Francisco, India, and Washington, DC.

Social Impact Roundtables are dynamic 50-minute exchanges of ideas, information, and insight from multiple Penn professors about their groundbreaking work in social impact.

HOW TO JOIN

General body membership is open to all. This year we will recruit for Board positions including Outreach Director and Spire Module Development Leaders. We will also recruit for consultants and fellows for the Spire Incubator. We will hold two info sessions at the beginning of the year. The recruitment process will consist of a written application followed by one in-person interview.

The Penn Undergraduate Biotech Society (PUBS) is a student-run, professional organization dedicated to connecting students who share an avid interest in biotechnology and business.

Structure

PUBS consists of three committees, each focusing on various aspects of biotechnology. The three committees are: Research (led by Ray Wu), Finance (led by Bianca Shilling), and Consulting (led by Kristina Mullen).

Events

Committee presentations: research and present alongside your committee members on specific aspects of the biotech industry (e.g. valuation of biotech companies, emergence of a new therapy, anticipated regulatory changes).

Biotech Industries Workshops: a series of panel workshops focusing on the biotechnology industry. Speakers varying from scientists, investment bankers, and consultants will shed light on the nature of the recruitment process and what the biotech industry is looking for.

Pro bono work with a startup biotech in Philadelphia: get first hand exposure to the life sciences and biotech industry.

New Student Programming

PUBS will hold a “Biotech Bootcamp” which will be a crash-course introduction to the biotech industry over the span of 1-2 weeks. Modules will include the drug development process, the biotech financing landscape, and an introduction to important products and technologies.

How to Join & Available Positions

General body membership is open to all: please inquire either at the Club Fair or with the President. We will also be recruiting for committee positions (finance, consulting, and research). We anticipate applications to be available within the first few weeks of the semester after PUBS has had the opportunity to host an initial introductory general body meeting.

For more information or questions regarding Penn Undergraduate Biotech Society, contact Hoyt Gong, President: hoytgong@wharton.upenn.edu
Penn Smart Woman Securities (SWS) aims to educate and empower female students interested in learning more about finance and investing. Through educational seminars, corporate events, mentorship, alumni networking, and opportunities to interact with SWS chapters in other colleges nation-wide, members are given the chance to explore the field in a supportive environment, alongside other like-minded women. We emphasize accessibility to all, and particularly encourage girls who have no prior knowledge or experience with finance.

Structure
In the fall semester, SWS holds the Fall Seminar Series – a series of 10, weekly, one-hour long ‘lessons’, with each week covering a different basic finance/investing topic. These are taught by a mixture of upperclassmen and external speakers.

In the spring semester, the club offers Research Teams. Research Teams is a continuation of Seminar Series, with a focus on more advanced topics, and entry into stock pitch competitions. Research Teams is streamed into two tracks, which girls can choose between based on their comfort/knowledge level: Standard and Advanced.

SWS’ leadership runs using an “apprenticeship model,” with an Executive Board, Junior Board, and Investment Board. Junior Board and Investment Board members each work with an Executive Board member, and there are 14 positions in total.

Events
In addition to the Fall Seminar Series and Spring Research Teams, we also have a number of corporate, career development, alumni, and mentorship events throughout the year that are open to all general/listserv members. Corporate events include panels, networking events, and a NY career trek; career development events include resume workshops, stock pitch competitions and speaker events; and alumni events include a NY SWS Alumni Dinner. We also run a Peer Advisors Mentorship Program, where new members are paired with upperclassmen female mentors.

New Student Programming
The Fall Seminar Series is open to all interested members, and first-years are particularly encouraged to participate!

How to Join
In order to be eligible for full membership and to apply for Research Teams and Board Positions in the spring, girls must participate in the Fall Seminar Series and attend at least 80% of seminars. More information and sign-ups for the Seminar Series will be available at the Clubbing Night. Any questions can be directed to Nicole Gendler, CEO: ngendler@wharton.upenn.edu
In 2017, The Signal Society for Penn Undergraduates began as a publication that encouraged the exploration of unconventional career paths and creative passions at Penn. Today, we are a collective of creators, designers, writers, and everything in between, with the goal of enhancing the undergraduate experience for all students. We provide resources to help students discover their passions and live deliberately at Penn, in their careers, and beyond.

Structure

We have 2 Co-Directors, who usually lead the meetings and club-wide logistics. We also have project leads that are the head of each project, a design lead to monitor design decisions, a development lead to oversee our GitHub and repositories, and a business lead to keep track of financing, advertising, and merchandising.

Events

We host a variety of events from internship panels, alternate career conferences, project showcases, collaborations with other clubs, etc. They vary from year to year, but all strive to push out our mission!

Most of our events are campus-wide and are for the general student body. We believe that in order for our projects to have impact, everyone should be able to see them!

New Student Programming

For Fall 2020, we plan to have a Meet & Greet, and possibly also have Passion Talks with our current Signal members!

Available Positions

Exact roles have yet to be determined, please keep a lookout on our Facebook page The Signal for updates! Generally, we are looking for web developers, designers, videographers, animators, etc or anyone to help with our many projects!

How to Join

Our recruitment process will be updated on http://thesignal.al/join. You can also follow our Facebook page @ The Signal, or our Instagram @ signal.penn.

If there are questions, please message the Facebook page, or send us an email at thesignalwriters@gmail.com.
SIC provides pro bono consulting services to social sector organizations, including social enterprises, non-profit organizations, and B corporations, with the aim of increasing their impact. Even as we partner with impact oriented clients and empower them to best achieve their goals, we focus on the personal and professional growth of our consultants. SIC provides undergraduate students with an invaluable opportunity to apply the frameworks and theories learnt in the classroom to solve real problems. We believe that it is our responsibility to have a positive impact on the community we live in. Through our two-fold focus on our clients and consultants, we aim to generate the greatest amount of social impact.

STRUCTURE

We benefit from a very flat structure. The president, vice president, and 5-8 project leaders sit on the executive board. Each project leader leads a team of 4-5 student consultants in working with a particular client over the course of the semester. Some of our past clients have included the Make A Wish Foundation, Girl Scouts of America, Unreasonable Group, Water Equity, and Philadelphia Fringe Arts.

EVENTS

Semester projects: Each team works closely with client organizations to address strategic, operational, or financial challenges by applying the talents, skills, and insights developed in the classroom or taught during training sessions.

Training sessions: Regular training sessions are hosted by leading consulting firms or senior SIC members every semester to enable student consultants to develop skills relevant to consulting. Some examples include financial modeling, marketing, pricing, etc.

Recruitment events: Exclusive meet-and-greets hosted by professionals from top consulting firms for club members.

Case Team Events: The SIC community benefits from a tight social fabric which often arises in tandem with case team social events. Be it yoga, making ice cream, or going to a 76ers game, SICers feel they can learn from and grow with each other outside of a client setting.

New Student Programming: SIC will be collaborating with other consulting and social impact oriented clubs to create consulting and social impact sessions that are open to all students.

HOW TO JOIN

Applications will be made available early in the semester. Positions are available for project consultants, with no restrictions for class year or concentration. We will host at least 2 info sessions to recruit student consultants.

For more information or questions regarding SIC, contact Augie Benjamin, President: ajben@sas.upenn.edu, or Swastid Badve, Vice President: swastidb@wharton.upenn.edu. Visit us at www.thesicgroup.com.
UME seeks to foster a community among undergraduates interested in pursuing careers in media and entertainment. We host professional gatherings to give students access to the vast network of Penn alumni in the entertainment industry, as well as a number of fun and interactive community-building events for students. Wherever your interests may lie within the entertainment industry, UME is your red carpet into all things Media and Entertainment at Penn!

Structure
UME provides students with three ways of becoming involved – as a board member, a committee member, or a general body member. Each committee is led by one or two board members, providing students with exciting opportunities to plan events and initiatives that promote learning, networking and socializing. All members are encouraged to exercise their creativity in order to provide media and entertainment-oriented students with unforgettable experiences!

Events
New York City Career Treks: Each semester, UME members have the opportunity to spend the day in NYC and visit several media companies. Past companies visited include HBO, NBCUniversal, Sony Music Group, Fox, Viacom, and Universal Music Group. These trips allow students to network, learn from industry insiders, bond with other club members, and sometimes even spot a few celebrities along the way!

UME Media and Entertainment Week: Media and Entertainment Week brings in speakers from all parts of the industry to share their experiences, advice, and thoughts on this fast-moving field. Past speakers have included Gwen Goldbloom (VP of Global Marketing, Fox21), Matthew Blank (former CEO of Showtime), Marc Platt (producer of Legally Blonde), and Michael Conway (CAO of United Talent Agency). Students have the opportunity to ask questions and network during these events, as well as meet other members with similar interests.

UME Member Events: Throughout the year, UME hosts a variety of social functions, such as an Oscar viewing party and stand-up comedy shows, open to all students interested in media and entertainment.

New Student Programming

Student Internship Panel: Underclassmen will be able to hear from other Penn students who have held summer internships in all facets of the media and entertainment industry. Topics include the application process, different work experiences, and helpful hints, with a Q&A session wrapping up the event.

Script Reading 101: This workshop provides students with a unique opportunity to learn what makes a great script and how coverage is done within talent agencies. A Cinema Studies professor will lead the event, offering personal expertise and insights along the way.

How to Join
We welcome new members and encourage you to visit us on Facebook at www.facebook.com/PennUME/ or sign-up for our listserv for the most up-to-date information! Students interested in joining committees will be asked to complete a short application and interest form. As board positions become available, UME will post applications and conduct interviews.

For more information or questions regarding UME, contact Yihan Wang, President (yihanwyh@wharton.upenn.edu) or Noga Even, Vice President (nogaeven@wharton.upenn.edu).
About
The Wharton Undergraduate Sports Business Club is dedicated to the dual purpose of informing undergraduate students about the sports industry and connecting them with jobs, internships, and industry leaders through an array of exciting events. The club was founded in March 2005 after the creation of the Wharton Sports Business Initiative, a partnership among top level business leaders, Wharton faculty and students that generates and disseminates industry knowledge through research programs and strategic corporate partnerships. The program has recently expanded into the Wharton Sports Analytics and Business Initiative (WSABI), stemming from increased funding and support from many notable Wharton alum in the sports business industry.

Website: https://wsb.wharton.upenn.edu/

Structure
We have five committees, all of which help to plan our events throughout the year. Applicants can join internal affairs, marketing, logistics, finance, or outreach. Each committee is led by a Vice President – committee members are eligible to apply for this position in the winter. Students who are interested in our events are welcome to attend or join as a general body member. We also have opportunities to write for the USBC Journal, our sports publication.

Wharton Sports Business Summit
Our flagship event is the Wharton Sports Business Summit, an annual conference that is held in early November. We bring in top speakers from the sports industry and host students and professionals from around the country. Previous speakers include Sixers owners Josh Harris and David Blitzer, Grizzlies Head Coach Taylor Jenkins, and Fanatics CEO Michael Rubin. For more information about past Summits, please see here: https://wsb.wharton.upenn.edu/event/wharton-sports-business-summit/.

Events and New Student Programming
We host many speaker events throughout the year, as well as several social events. The club does an annual NYC career trek, has sports trivia nights, and occasionally provides tickets to sports games. We plan to host additional virtual speaker events throughout the fall focused on various aspects of the industry, including talks from professional athletes.

How to Join
Applications for board positions will be open at the end of the fall semester. If you are interested in joining the club or being made aware of our events, please subscribe to our mailing list here: http://eepurl.com/EYuSz. If you are interested in writing for the USBC Journal, look out for an application on the mailing list or check the website for an application form that will be released in early fall. If you have any other inquiries, do not hesitate to email usbcupenn@gmail.com.

The USS is a community of undergraduate students interested in statistics. Our goal is to promote higher education, career opportunities, and greater statistical savvy at Penn. We provide a variety of resources, including events where undergraduates can connect with professors and graduate students.

Structure
The USS is structured in three tiers. (1) Executive board: President and role specific VPs (2) Committee members: most executive board members hold a standing committee comprised of Deputy VPs, who generally take ownership of a project or event. All new members are welcome to join! (3) General body members; by attending one of our events you automatically become a member.

Events
Faculty Speaker Events: We invite faculty to speak on stats-related topics several times per semester. Whether it’s poker, customer behavior modeling, machine learning, or sports, we select speakers who explain clearly – no quantitative background is required to attend!

Study Nights: Before major stats exams, the USS often holds study nights. Feeling nervous? Insomnia cookies and some advice from former TA’s should help.

New Student Programming
This year, the USS is hosting a data science workshop series on use of the statistical software package R. R is ubiquitous in both academia and industry and a must-know for future data scientists! No experience is required to attend our workshops, and first-years are encouraged to attend. We’ll start from the basics and work with you at becoming pros in seamlessly analyzing, cleaning, manipulating, and visualizing data! Sign up for our listserv to receive updates and event times/locations.

Available Positions
In early October, we will be recruiting for deputy VPs to serve on all committees.

How to Join Today
Sign up for our listserv at our website: https://undergradstatsociety.wordpress.com/

The Wharton Alliance is North America’s leading LGBTQ pre-professional organization. The club’s three main initiatives for its general body are 1) professional development, 2) corporate networking, and 3) community building.

Structure

The club membership consists of executive board members, committee members, non-committee core members, and general body members. Committee applications are in both spring and fall, and the executive board is elected before winter break. We have four committees: Finance & Corporate Relations, Internal Affairs, Operations, and Case Competition. To become a general body member, simply sign up for our listserv.

Events

Diversity Case Competition: With $3,000 in cash prizes and structured networking opportunities, about 150 students registered to compete in our 6th Annual Diversity Case Competition. This was one of the largest club-run events at Wharton in the past two academic years.

Professional Development & Corporate Networking: During school year, the nation’s top industry leaders come to us looking for top diverse talent. To help with members’ professional development, we host numerous events with our sponsors regularly. We had 14 club sponsors this past year across management consulting, investment banking, private equity, etc.

Community Building: To help members bond with each other, we host social events such as BYOs, happy hours, randomly assigned coffee chats, formals, etc. We also engage the broader LGBTQ community by bringing in high-profile speakers such as Peter Staley, National AIDS Activist, and Brian Sims, the first openly gay elected state legislator in PA.

How to Join

New Student Programming: In groups, students will work on planning professional and philanthropic events to build the future diverse leaders of tomorrow. Gain team building skills and work with diverse students to develop programming for the Penn undergrad student body.

Learn about our events by joining our listserv (http://www.thewhartonalliance.com/contact/) and connecting with us on Facebook. Anyone interested in joining our Board, must complete an application distributed through our listserv due October 7th at 11:59 PM. There will be one round of interview conducted by current members.

Wharton Asia Exchange (WAX) is a professional organization serving as a community for Asians interested in business and bridging the gap between the university community and the business world of Asia. WAX provides a unique platform for cultural and corporate exchange with the dynamic, rapidly-evolving business environments across Asia. Ultimately, we aim to promote professional development and social community through global opportunities and our values of diversity, inclusivity, and accessibility.

Structure
WAX is comprised of five committees, five investment teams as part of our Wharton Asia Investments (WAI) division, a Global Strategy division, and a general member base. Please see our website for full information about our opportunities. Our committees serve as the backbone of the club and organize professional development workshops, speaker events, club meetings, journal launches, and career treks. Our investment teams learn finance concepts through workshops and analyze companies that operate in Asia with the goal of producing stock pitches. Our Global Strategy division provides the opportunity to apply skills in consulting with companies in Asia.

Wharton Council Awards
Best Large Club (2019-2020)
Most Innovative Event (2018-2019)
- Won for our “Breaking the Bamboo Ceiling” Event with Alumni Lucia Lin which featured a live podcast recording.

Events
Spring Trip: An annual spring break trip, guided by students, to an Asian city to better understand and explore career options abroad. Previous destinations include Dubai, Singapore, Taiwan, Tokyo, and Seoul.
Asia Spotlight Series: Each fall, WAX turns the spotlight on Asia with a series of events including speaker panels, professional workshops, and interactive activities. Past themes have included Media & Entertainment (2019), the Asian American Experience (2018), and Politics in China (2016).
Wharton Asia Investments Stock Pitch Competition: An event held every semester, participants compete for cash prizes and pitch investment ideas in the Asian markets. This serves as the culmination of the WAI programming as members learn finance and valuation in specialized teams over the semester.
Alumni Programs: WAX is in its 19th year at the University of Pennsylvania. Meet our extensive alumni network through our Alumni Mentorship Program, Alumni Dinner, or guest speakers to campus.

New Student Programming
We will host a General Body Meeting, Dessert Social (with homemade desserts baked by WAX Board), and WAI Workshop for our New Student Programming. We will host two information sessions.

How to Join
We recruit at the beginning of every semester. All recruitment information and membership applications will be available at the information sessions and at www.whartonasia.net/join/. Committee, Global Strategy, and investment team members undergo an application and two-round interview process. General body membership is open to all students.

The Wharton Business & Law Association (WBLA) is the University of Pennsylvania’s premier pre-professional undergraduate business law organization. WBLA aims to stimulate an interest in business and law, more specifically the intersection thereof, within the Penn community in order to promote the understanding of important legal and corporate issues of today. The Association strives to advance the prestige of Penn in the realms of business and law, through networking events with industry-leading entrepreneurs, executives, lawyers, and academics.

Structure
Board Positions:
1) President
2) VP of Finance
3) VP of Events
4) VP of Marketing

Membership: Each VP runs their respective committee, which usually accepts 3-4 members. General body members are encouraged to attend events and reach out to committee leaders.

Events
New York City Career Trek: WBLA’s Career Trek will involve on-site visits to large firms with legal departments and prominent law firms in the financial district. The day-long event will subsidize travel expenses for students who wish to understand how litigation impacts business and network with alumni.

Speaker events: Learn and participate in interactive discussions with leaders within the business and law spheres. Interact with speakers varying from experts in various fields of law to Penn Law School admissions directors and current students pursuing the JD/MBA track.

Law Schools Information Sessions and Admissions Prep: WBLA hosts a variety of Information Sessions for recruiters, as well as workshops to help write applications and prepare for the LSAT.

How to Join
WBLA will be recruiting members for each of its Committees at the end of September.

For more information or questions regarding WBLA, please contact Richard (Ricky) Pletan, President:

Founded in 2004, Wharton China Association (WCA) is a student-initiated organization at University of Pennsylvania. WCA is committed to serving Penn Chinese undergraduate students in their personal, academic and professional development. We seek to provide a resourceful home base for the Penn Chinese community and a gateway to the vibrant business developments in China.

Structure
Wharton China Association consists of four committees: Professional, Arts & Entertainment, Marketing, and Finance. The board of WCA includes two Co-Presidents, two Vice-Presidents for each committee, and three director positions—social director, external director, and video director. We have open positions as committee members who will work for one or multiple of the aforementioned committees under the leadership of the VPs. Others can also partake as general body members.

Events

New Student Programming: WCA will host an info session for new students to meet with current board members. WCA will also hold major panels and organize upperclassmen (including non-board members) and underclassmen socials, such as Dim Sum Trip and scavenger hunt, to help new students learn more about WCA and Penn in general.

Professional Panels and Workshops: WCA organizes series of professional events, in which we invite speakers who are insightful on the contemporary Chinese business environment. WCA also hosts various kinds of professional workshops such as resume workshops and summer internship panels.

Social Events & Retreat Trips: WCA fosters a sense of belonging within the wide Chinese community on-campus. We celebrate traditional Chinese festivals like Chinese New Year and Mid-Autumn Festival. We also organize retreat trips for our members to scenic places like Washington Cherry Blossom Festival.

If You Are The One: This is our signature social event that is usually held in November. It serves as a stage for matchmaking among Penn students. It is modeled after a famous TV show in China. Attendees of this event can potentially meet someone who would transform their Penn experiences completely.

Mentorships: WCA assists members to forge both internal and external mentoring relationships. By the end of the fall semester, every first-year member will be paired up with an upperclassman through our Big & Little Program, and/or with a Wharton MBA through our MBA Mentorship Program.

Alumni Initiative: WCA provides opportunities for alumni and the current Penn community to reconnect with each other. We invite alumni back on campus for Alumni Day. We also pair current students with alumni hosts in different cities to do activities including bonding dinners, work shadowing, etc.

How to Join
Social events and professional panels are open to all general members, and you can sign up today by subscribing to our listserv. Applications for committee members will be made available during fall semester. Wharton Europe is Penn’s undergraduate professional organization dedicated to business relationships between the US and Europe. We look to bring together European students and those with a professional interest in Europe. We pursue our three primary mandates through corporate, educational, and social events:

1) To expand Penn’s network in Europe so as to give Penn students a greater exposure to employment opportunities in Europe and conversely ensure students from Europe receive the same opportunities and access to top firms in the US as their peers
2) To educate Penn students about politics and business in Europe
3) To create a solid alumni and student network for Penn alumni and students working and interning in Europe: we want to make it as easy to meet and work with alumni in London and New York

STRUCTURE
OVERVIEW: Our general body is open to all, and currently boasts 800+ members. The Wharton Europe executive board is a project-based organization with a virtually flat structure in which all board members work together to take on work of equal importance to carry forward the mission of the club. Within the board, we are broken up into committees (research, internal, events, corporate, etc.), with a respective Vice President. The club is event-driven, with focus being on bringing speakers and events to campus pursuant to our mandates. Every board member is expected to commit at least 2-3 hours to the club per week.

UPCOMING PROJECTS HIGHLIGHTS
FOR MEMBERS: After last year’s successful current events panels and career treks, Wharton Europe plans to do another trek next year as well as organize new events with innovative formats such as webinars and interactive debates. We also host internal events throughout the semester for our board members to celebrate different European cultural celebrations.

OPEN EVENTS: We invite all Penn students to engage with our club through our usual panels on studying and interning abroad, the differences between recruiting in the US and Europe, and a variety of panels dedicated to current events pertaining to the US and Europe. These events are publicized on our social media accounts and to our listserv. Furthermore, we host an open study break with our board for prospective applicants to get to know us in a fun, relaxed setting. Our research committee also accepts guest articles to our website and listserv, which provides non-members an opportunity to publish their written works on European politics, economics, or culture.

HOW TO JOIN
GENERAL BODY: Those who are interested in the club but unable to commit the same amount of time as a board member are welcome to join our general member list of 800+ members. By following us on our listserv, students are regularly informed on upcoming general body meetings and events. Our newsletter also features articles by our board members as well as guest articles, such as current events overview, startup spotlights, and more. All are welcome to be General Body Members, which only requires a simple sign-up. We encourage students interested in joining to attend and introduce themselves to the board, even prior to recruiting season.

EXECUTIVE BOARD: In order to join the board, a written application is required. These applications are released each semester. Applications are read by a committee of board members and interviews are given to the top performing applicants. Interviews are conducted the following week by two board members and include questions to gauge interest, knowledge of European affairs, and availability. Following interviews, the board discusses each applicant as a whole before releasing offers for positions. Specific positions on board are given only after a few weeks rotation experience between committees. To run for leadership positions on our board we hold yearly elections. Subsequently, the board meets with the candidates for presentation of statements and voting.

Please look out for our New Student Programming Event in September, which all first-years are encouraged to attend. We will be discussing basic things such as how to get involved in Wharton Europe, what it is like to be a European at an American university, how to get involved with other European activities on campus, and any other questions that first-years might have. All are welcome!

For more information about Wharton Europe, please feel free to reach out to the current club presidents: Nicole Vereczkey: nvere@sas.upenn.edu and Margaux Carre: mcarre@wharton.upenn.edu and/or our VP of Recruitment: Gregoria Serretta Fiorentino: gregoria@wharton.upenn.edu.

The Wharton Hedge Fund Club (WHFC) is a premier undergraduate club that seeks to prepare students for personal and professional success in the alternative investments industry. As the sole hedge fund oriented club at the University of Pennsylvania, we have established a diverse base of ambitious and dedicated students passionate about the full spectrum of investing strategies: quantitative finance, distressed debt investing, fundamental long/short equity, and more.

Structure
There are two Co-Presidents, three Chairmen, one Treasurer, four VPs, and a four Strategy Team Heads. There are 3 committees (Corporate Sponsorship, Operations, Marketing) and 4 strategy teams (Long/Short, Credit, Macro, Quant). There are over 1000 general body members. Certain events will only be open to board members so application to join the board is highly encouraged.

Events
- Quant Panel: Moderated a conversation with Managing Directors from the leading firms in the quantitative industry (AQR, Citadel, SCM). Included an early-access networking session with recruiters.
- Site Visit, Seer Capital: Students traveled to New York City to visit Seer Capital, a credit-focused fund. Students sat down with Philip Weingord, Chief Executive Officer, and discussed investing ideas.
- Marc Lasry of Avenue Capital: Students attended a talk given by hedge fund manager, Marc Lasry of Avenue Capital; Avenue Capital has over $10 billion in assets under management.
- Hedge Fund 101: A panel of MBAs introduced underclassmen to the hedge fund industry. They cover different investment strategies: Long/short, Credit, Macro; and respond to questions from students.

How to Join
Applications will be made available by the final week of September and will be due a week after they are published. We will take candidates for all committees and all strategy teams. For general body membership, please inquire at Clubbing Night or email whartonhedgefundclub@gmail.com.

First-years will be able to first interact with the club during our 5th Annual Hedge Funds 101 event, which includes a panel of undergraduate Seniors joining hedge funds full time.

The Wharton International Business Review is the premier undergraduate publication from the University of Pennsylvania’s Wharton School. IBR features internationally relevant articles written by University of Pennsylvania undergraduates and interviews with international business executives. With every issue, we aim to bring a global vision to the business world. We publish our print edition once each semester and release online content year-round at www.wharton-ibr.com. We have been widely recognized within the Penn publishing and Wharton communities. IBR was the 2017 Penn Publications Cooperative winner of Best Research Article, Natural Sciences Article, and Social Sciences and Humanities Article.

Structure
IBR consists of a general board and several teams divided by function. Our main teams are as follows: 1) print writing, 2) online writing, 4) interviews for publication, 3) design, 4) business, and 5) event marketing & social media. We are continually searching for talent to join us for all of these teams, and all teams are currently recruiting.

Events
The Influence and The Frontier Issues: IBR recently released The Influence issue this year and is in the process of publishing The Frontier issue. The magazines feature articles by undergraduates about breakthrough developments in industry, economics, and technology while addressing important current world events. Both issues included interviews with academics and business leaders in the field.

New Student Programming: At the start of the semester, IBR hosts an open GBM to prospective writers and team members to introduce the organization, its mission, and its achievements. Follow up events as part of our NSP initiative will also be held.

How to Join
Getting involved with IBR is simple. Interested individuals can like IBR on Facebook (Wharton International Business Review), join us at Wharton Clubbing Night, or find us at the SAC Activities Fair. Please also feel free to email Alfredo Garcia Sanchez at: alfredgs@wharton.upenn.edu
The Wharton Investment and Trading Group (WITG) is the premier undergraduate club that prepares students for personal and professional success in investing. We are the largest finance and education-oriented undergraduate club in Wharton and focus on educating students about value investing, trading, and business analysis through hands-on learning and mentorship. Many of our members have gone on to top, elite investment banking and investing jobs. The club offers an eight-week Development Team each semester to teach the fundamentals of investing. Prior experience is not required to attend the course, and we encourage students from all schools to come and learn about the industry. After completing the Development Team, students may choose to apply to join an Investment Team, each led by upperclassmen portfolio managers with extensive work experience. Portfolio managers will guide analysts in each group through the process of pitching stocks and analyzing firms.

New Student Programming: The Development Team is an eight-week program open to all students without a need for an application or prior experience. The program aims to teach underclassmen the fundamentals of value investing and accounting. The Development Team meets for an hour every week, and students can opt to work on a stock pitch as a capstone project. The program prepares students in applying for and joining an Investment Team in the spring semester.

Available Positions: Junior Executive Board (7 positions), Investment Teams (~7 new members per team).

Structure: WITG has over 400 active undergraduate members involved in our Development Teams and 11 Investment Teams, which meet at set times during the week. In addition, we hold weekly General Body Meetings (GBMs) every Sunday that give members of the Investment Teams the opportunity to pitch their best ideas to other students. GBMs are open to everyone.

Events:

Stock Pitch Competitions: Due to our extensive alumni network, we’re able to host stock pitch competitions with industry firms such as Goldman Sachs, Silver Point Capital, Morgan Stanley, and Dodge & Cox. We host frequent stock pitch competitions with cash prizes and great opportunities to present investment ideas and receive feedback from professionals already working in the field.

Recruitment Events and Information Sessions: We host speakers and exclusive events with firms such as Goldman Sachs, Houlihan Lokey, PJT Partners, AQR, Point72, Foxhill Capital Partners, and Silver Point. These give undergraduate students the opportunity to hear what it’s like working in investing and finance.

How to Join: All are welcome to join our Development Teams and attend our General Body Meetings. We will be recruiting for Investment Teams and board positions through a written application and subsequent interviews.

Contact Information: Please contact Evan Megibow or Jill Yu (Co-Presidents ‘20-’21) at penrwitg@gmail.com with any questions. Learn more about the club at www.pennwitg.com.
Wharton Korea Undergraduate Business Society, also known as Wharton KUBS, is the only professional undergraduate organization at the University of Pennsylvania that focuses on providing a unique and professional experience to students interested in Korean businesses. Our mission is to promote awareness of Korean business among students at the University of Pennsylvania by providing opportunities for sharing professional knowledge. Our three main goals are: 1) To serve as a bridge between Penn’s student body and Korean businesses 2) To provide opportunities for students to learn about the Korean economy, politics, and business trends 3) To build a professional collegiate network with other business schools and organizations.

Structure
Wharton Korea Undergraduate Business Society is divided into six different committees, each with its own Vice President. The committees are Internal Relations, External Relations, Events, Marketing, Casing, and Business Analysis. Two Co-Presidents oversee the six committees as well as the Executive Board. As of the Spring 2020 semester, we have over 45 committee members and over 60 general body members. We also have access to hundreds of W-KUBS alumni that we regularly host networking events with.

Exclusive Events
Speaker Series: Speaker series events provide opportunities for Penn students to learn directly from experts in the cross-fields of Korea and business. Past speaker series events include: The Economic Development of East Asia (with Dr. Kim Choong-soo, former Governor of the Bank of Korea), KPOP Talk (with top KPOP stars), Taste of Korea (with Danny Lee, owner of a Korean restaurant Mandu) and more.

Workshops: Workshops focus on specific agendas that students find most useful for professional opportunities. Past workshop events include: Wharton KUBS Career Workshop and Resume/Cover Letter Workshop.

External / Internal Events: We make networking opportunities and social activities for the members internally and externally through multiple events throughout the semester, including study breaks, socials with MBA students, and collaborative events with other student organizations.

New Student Programming / Open Events
Wharton Korea Undergraduate Business Society will host events that would provide better insight into the club’s various events and activities for new students. In addition to our semester info sessions, events such as “Day of a Committee” and “Committee Boot Camp” will be held before applications open. These events are open to non-members.

How to Join
Wharton KUBS committee applications are open at the beginning of both fall and spring semesters. Undergraduate students can apply to become a general body member or a committee member by filling out the written application, due per Wharton Council Guidelines. All applicants will be officially interviewed by a Vice President and a Co-President. Additional rounds of interviews may be required in the case a student applies for more than one position. All committees follow a simultaneous recruitment timeline, announced in the beginning of the semester. Please check our website www.whartonkubs.com and Facebook page www.facebook.com/whartonkubs/ for updates and additional information.

For more information or questions regarding Wharton KUBS, please contact the Co-Presidents:

Wharton Latino is one of the largest undergraduate organizations on campus and it is established with the purpose of promoting and bringing together those interested in Latin American culture within the University of Pennsylvania. It fosters a sense of community for everyone with open arms throughout many engaging philanthropic, corporate, academic and social initiatives throughout the year.

Structure
Executive Board: President, Vice President, Administrative Chair, Finance Chair, Latin American Affairs Chair, Marketing Chairs, Membership Chairs, Corporate Chairs, Philanthropy Chairs and Social Chairs

Committees: Corporate, Marketing, Social, Philanthropy, and Operations.

Active General Body Membership: around 200+ students.

Events

24th Annual Career Conference: An event open to all university students; it is an amazing opportunity to meet recruiters, develop networking skills, and learn about the great opportunities our sponsors offer. Wharton Latino is excited to host the conference’s 24th anniversary this year in early September!

Valentine’s Day Rose Sale: A charity rose sale the week of Valentine’s in which all of the proceeds are donated to a charity in Latin America.

New Student Programming: an annual cultural and food festival from Latin America that seeks to integrate incoming students into the Wharton Latino community by giving them the opportunity to actively contribute to a project that integrates all branches of the club.

Wharton Latino is a community you can be a part of for life, and will help you succeed professionally, academically and socially throughout your time at Penn and beyond.

How to Join

Students are invited to join any General Body Meeting at any time during the semester. For more information or questions regarding Wharton Latino, visit our Website and follow us on social media @WhartonLatino! For direct contact please reach out to our President, Guilherme Grupenmacher, at ggrup@sas.upenn.edu!
Wharton Management Club

The Wharton Management Club (WMC) is a student-run organization that seeks to expose the undergraduate community to opportunities within the field of management, both inside the classroom and beyond. To do so, our club hosts speakers, professional networking sessions, experiential learning events, and pro bono consulting projects. Since management is not confined to a particular industry or field, our club aims to touch upon a broad sphere of interests through a diverse set of events.

Structure

Our club consists of an executive board, committee members, and a general body. Our four committees are:

- Applied Management Program: The focus of this committee is developing consulting skills through working with clients of all sizes in the Philadelphia area and beyond. AMP members get tangible experience working on real business problems.
- Speakers and Events: Committee members work closely with successful individuals from all disciplines and organize events for the rest of the club and the broader Penn community.
- Finance and Corporate Relations: This committee is in charge of the club budget and maintaining corporate sponsors. Committee members receive opportunities to network with our sponsors such as Kantar and Insight.
- Communications: This committee works to keep the club connected and engaged, and is in charge of publicizing events for WMC and the Penn community.

Examples of Past Events

- WMC Entrepreneurship Event: WMC hosted an event in which Penn grad Tiffany Yau, CEO and Founder of Fulphil, and current Penn student Evan Wilson of Start.Stay.Grow spoke to members on how to get involved in the local community through social entrepreneurship.
- SICxPNG: WMC collaborated with PGN and SIC to host a webinar in which speaker Daniel Gasterfeld, a Bain employee and Harvard Business School alumnus, presented an overview of consulting and walked through a practice case. He also gave advice on interview training and answered any questions that the audience had.
- J.P. Morgan Externship: WMC organized a student trip to J.P. Morgan's New York headquarters, where everyone got a tour of the trading floor and met analysts from the bank's various divisions.
- Pennovation Tour: AMP Team members worked with their client Instahub, located in the Pennovation center and received a private tour of the building.

How to Join

WMC will recruit for all its committees, as well as for general body members. We will attend the Wharton Club fair and hold a kick-off club info session and NSP ice cream social, after which committee applications will become available. For more information or questions regarding WMC and our New Student Programming opportunities, contact club president Theo Yuan: yuantheo@sas.upenn.edu, and visit www.whartonmanagementclub.com.
At Wharton Undergraduate PEVC, we are a purposefully small club fascinated by Private Equity and Venture Capital, the most exciting, sought-after industries in finance. Members build on our pillars of community, education, and experience to curate a collaborative culture composed of interesting, analytical, and persuasive people. All students, irrespective of levels of prior knowledge and experience, are welcome to join and learn through our events and student-led analyses.

Structure
We operate through three primary teams: Investment Analysis, Corporate Outreach, and Industry Projects (for senior members). We join as a whole group of 40 members once per week to discuss current events, cover educational content, and break out into our teams. Each team develops more refined skills and is led by two Vice Presidents who provide personal mentorship and team-specific support. In all aspects of our structure, we emphasize lean, tight-knit leadership to build an effective, collaborative community. We also offer informal engagement for our broader base of 1,000+ students involved via event attendance and online interaction. There is no application required to participate in those activities, but consider applying for a team position if you want to have a greater impact on the direction of the club and the presence of PEVC at Penn, with enhanced exposure and mentorship.

Activities
New Student Programming: PEVC’s award-winning NSP program will entail (1) Club information session and an overview of what Private Equity and Venture Capital are (2) an introduction to leveraged buyouts (LBOs), and (3) an introduction to venture investing. We wish to provide a warm welcome to our incoming class of peers, and we hope that you will join us in our educational NSP program to learn an incredible amount while meeting like-minded first-years and upperclassmen.

Speakers & Educational Events: Throughout the year, PEVC hosts speaker events available to students across the university. We host events including student panels on internship opportunities in PE and VC, conversations with industry leaders like Scott Kupor, managing partner of Andreessen Horowitz, plus information sessions and private dinners with private equity firms such as GTCR. We also share special closed events for team members for more personal exposure.

Industry Analysis: The IA team applies the investing frameworks that we teach to develop pitches and present their best investment ideas. Additionally, IA members can write articles about trends in the PE/VC spaces and publish their findings on our website and our circulations that are shared with the wider PEVC membership.

Industry Projects: The industry projects team is a new offering reserved for more senior members. Students can apply the skills they develop in the club and classroom through experience in valuation services consulting for local businesses.

Available Positions
No Application Required – General Body Member (hear about events and opportunities by subscribing to our listserv)
Apply! – Corporate Outreach Team, Investment Analysis Team, Industry Projects Team

How to Join
Written applications to our IA and CO teams will be made available in September, and students will be given several weeks to complete the applications. A portion of the applicants will be invited to interview for positions in the club. Wharton Retail Club facilitates the personal and career development of students interested in retail by building a network of exceptional undergraduates, faculty, and retail professionals. We aim to connect undergraduate students with the retail industry. Our focus is to educate the student body about retail and emerging trends, such as digitization, e-commerce and sustainability through speaker series, mentorship opportunities, career treks and conferences. In short, we are the go to club for all things retail and its intersection with other industries.

Structure
Wharton Retail Club consists of three parts: The Executive Board, Committees and General Body Members. Each executive board member leads a committee. We have 9 committees: Marketing, Events& Corporate Sponsorship, External Operations, Internal Operations, External Communications, Finance, Research, and Consulting.

Events

Career Treks: We aim to connect students interested in retail to the most innovative and best retail companies through our semesterly treks. Most recent company visits include: Jet.com, UNIQLO, Hermes, and Tiffany& Co.

Speaker Series: We bring distinguished alumni in retail on campus and invite them to share their experiences with our club members. We also invite professors that focus on retail to give talks about targeted topics in retail.

Recruitment Events: Exclusive meet-and-greets hosted by our sponsors in the retail and consulting industries.

MARC Conference: The Marketing, Advertising and Retail Conference is a daylong event that features educational panels and speeches delivered by leaders of the retail industry. The conference also attracts recruiting representatives and connects them to students for internships and jobs.

How to Join

Learn more and get updates on all of our events through joining our listserv by clicking here. In the fall, we will hold a New Student Programming event (NSP) and an info session. Our applications will open right after our info session in September. For more information or questions regarding Wharton Retail Club, feel free to contact Co-Presidents, Natasha Tagliaferri (ntagl@wharton.upenn.edu) and Olivia Weis (oweis@sas.upenn.edu).
The Wharton Undergraduate Consulting Club (WUCC) is the premier consulting club at the University of Pennsylvania and was named Wharton’s “Best Large Club” in 2015. WUCC seeks to promote awareness of the consulting industry by providing students with educational events, hands-on experience, and networking opportunities with the nation’s most prominent consulting firms.

STRUCTURE
WUCC’s structure comprises of nine executive board members, 90 committee members, and over 2,000+ general body members. We have committees for Conference, Events, Marketing, Internal Development, Corporate Sponsorship, and Advisors. Advisors is the consulting branch of WUCC, providing consulting services for local and national clients. Members work in teams and receive the opportunity to travel onsite to present their recommendations.

EVENTS
New Student Programming – Consulting Camp Series: Our Consulting Camp Series will introduce students to the field of consulting, provide course recommendations from upperclassmen, and discuss possible career paths. We will then walk through some more technical aspects of consulting, teaching students to apply fundamental frameworks and concepts to real-world businesses cases.

Annual Consulting Conference & Case Competition: The Wharton Undergraduate Consulting Conference & Case Competition is the nation’s leading collegiate consulting conference. Our general conference features company coffee chats, career panels, a keynote speech, and a career fair with 6+ participating firms. Our case competition hosts over 100 students from across the U.S. and Canada and provides a collaborative platform for students to explore creative and interdisciplinary solutions to some of the biggest problems facing the business world today.

Consulting 101: This event gives an overview of what consulting is about. Key topics include what a typical day in consulting is like, the type of work that consultants do, and examples of previous projects that our panelists have worked on. Speakers include consultants from BCG, Deloitte, Accenture, and McKinsey.

HOW TO JOIN
Committee recruitment involves one written application and a one-round interview. Second round case interviews will be held for Advisors applicants. Applications will open following info sessions in September. All students are encouraged to become general body members, which does not require an application.

Available Positions: We are recruiting for all our committees!

Visit us on Facebook and pennwucc.org for updates and more information. Please contact co-presidents, Austen Li (austenli@wharton.upenn.edu) and Angelina Susanto (asusanto@wharton.upenn.edu), through email for any questions regarding WUCC.
The Wharton Undergraduate Data Analytics Club enables Penn undergraduates to develop a passion for analytics and gives these analytically inclined students a community of like-minded individuals. We provide support for careers and skills development for students interested in working with data, as well as those who are interested in learning how to apply data analysis to business problems in their respective industries.

Structure
WUDAC is open to all undergraduates. We host events throughout semester that are open to everyone. There are also three ways to enhance your involvement with the club that encourage member ownership and autonomy. 1) Join committees. We will also be accepting applications for our Marketing, Education, and Events Committees. 2) Apply for the Wharton Analytics Fellows. WAF enables students to get real world analytics experience doing an analytics-consulting project for a company. 3) Apply for the Executive Board. Members who have great event attendance and are on committees have the best chance of joining the Executive Board.

Opportunities
Wharton Analytics Fellows: In cooperation with the MBA Data & Analytics Club and the Wharton Customer Analytics Initiative, we partner with companies to get real-world data analytics experience. Students get to work directly with a client and present their findings at the end of the semester. Our project teams are comprised of 2 MBA Engagement Leads and 4-5 undergraduate team members.

Data Analytics Recruiting Circuit: WUDAC hopes to introduce students to careers in data analytics and provide recruiting and networking opportunities for internships and full-time jobs. Every fall, we invite the top companies across all industries to campus so students can learn more about available analytics-focused opportunities.

Workshops and Bootcamps: All skill levels are welcome to join WUDAC. Throughout the year, we have beginner, intermediate, and advanced workshops in R, SQL, and Tableau (to name a few). Every spring, we host the Data Science Hackathon in which students can apply the skills they have learned over the year. We also have the award-winning Data@Nite speaker series that brings leaders in industry to talk about their experiences and advice for students interested in breaking into data science.

New Student Programming
Analytics 101: A semester long initiative that cultivates a passion for data. Students will learn how to find stories in data, analyze a dataset, and be able to code by the end of the program. We lead seminars in Python in the fall and R in the spring – all backgrounds welcome!

Analytics 201: A semester long opportunity in the spring term to engage in small teams with a real dataset. Our education committee will teach you how to perform exploratory data analysis, build a variety of statistical models, and reach actionable conclusions. Teams will also have the opportunity to present their findings at the end of the term.

How to Join
Anyone is welcome to be a member of WUDAC. Visit https://www.wudac.com/contact to join our listserv and receive emails with committee applications, events, and job opportunities, and follow our Facebook page (Wharton Undergraduate Data Analytics Club) to stay updated.

If you have any other questions, we’d love to hear from you - email our president Rachel Levin (raclevin@wharton.upenn.edu)
The Wharton Undergraduate Energy Group—winner of the Wharton Council award for Best Small Club of 2016—is the only undergraduate organization at Penn with the sole focus of energy. We cover a wide array of energy-related topics, ranging from renewables to oil and gas, and are sponsored by companies including Siemens and Scotiabank. Partnering with other clubs and organizations such as Finance Club, Penn Government and Politics Association, Kleinman Center for Energy Policy, and Penn Wharton Public Policy Initiative, we explore every facet of the energy industry through site visits, industry panels, high-profile speaker events, and networking dinners. To learn more, please visit our website at whartonenergygroup.com and find us on Facebook.

Structure
Because of its niche, WUEG is small relative to other Wharton clubs. We have about 50 active members and a listserv of 600. WUEG is made up of 7 committees: Academics; Corporate Relations; Events; Finance; Marketing; Industrials; and Membership. The executive board is comprised of each committee VP and the club President.

Events
- Avangrid Renewables Wind Farm Field Trip
- Russian Energy Politics Panel
- Energy stock pitch competition
- MBA dinner series mentorship program
- Goldman Sachs Energy Private Equity Speaker Event

New Student Programming (NSP)
- General Body Meeting and Info Session
- Energy Case Competition
  - The case will cover topics in the energy field worldwide in which students will need to use foreign policy knowledge and insight into the energy industry to solve the case.
- Energy Industry Speaker
  - We will be holding a speaker event with an executive from a major energy company to provide an overview of their career, industry, and future innovation.
- Joint General Body Meetings
  - We will be holding joint GBMs with clubs (both academic and pre-professional) whose focus intersects/overlaps with aspects of the energy industry.

How to Join?
- General Body Membership and Available Committee Positions
- To become a General Body Member and learn about committee opportunities, please sign up for our listserv at whartonenergygroup.com and like WUEG on Facebook. Events, Corporate Relations, and Academics will be accepting applications in the fall. Event dates and times will be announced on our listserv and through Facebook.

For more information please contact Liana Kaye-Lew (President) lkayelew@sas.upenn.edu.
Our goal as the Wharton Undergraduate Entrepreneurship Club is to
1) Build Community,
2) Foster an Entrepreneurial Mindset, and
3) Explore Opportunities.
Our mission is to create an innovative network for all those interested in Entrepreneurship, no matter if you’re a founder or just interested in the topic. Our club has members across all schools and at every stage of entrepreneurship; from seed stage start-ups to fully launched companies to those who are just interested in being around creative energy. We are a launching pad for curious minds to ideate, grow, and find potential co-founders. Join WUEC to begin your entrepreneurial journey.

Structure
Club involvement ranges from the Executive Board and Board Committees, to Ambassadors and general body members. Our 2020 Executive Board includes a President and Vice President roles for the following committees; Marketing, Internal, Finance, Events, Outreach and Ambassadors. Board Committees will be open for applications in the fall. The Ambassador Program does not require an application process.

New Student Programming
Any incoming students will be able to participate in WUEC through our Ambassador Program designed to give new students a chance to learn about entrepreneurship through speaker panels, networking events, an Ambassador Pitch Competition, and a Tech Trek to visit top start-ups in NYC. The program will include monthly Ambassador meetings with direct communication and group formation from your VP of Ambassadors.

Events
Ambassador’s Pitch Competition: WUEC partners with experienced professionals, founders, and alumni to provide semester long workshopping for the Ambassador Program. Students taking part of this will be placed into teams at the beginning of the semester, create an idea from scratch, workshop it throughout the semester, and pitch at our annual Pitch Competition to a panel of judges. Ambassadors will be competing for a money prize.

Speaker Series and Networking Opportunities: Throughout the semester, we host entrepreneurs, alumni, and student founders in various industries to speak about their experiences and how you can get involved. These sessions provide you an opportunity to get direct face-time with incredibly accomplished individuals. Additionally, opportunities to network are available with MBA Entrepreneurs and founder coffee chats.

NYC Tech Trek: Each year, the club travels to NYC to visit VC’s, incubators, and start-ups that have made an impact in their industry. Interact directly with the leaders and brightest minds behind these firms to answer your questions and network.

How to Join
Available Positions: Applications for all board committees will be available in September, with a particular need for help on the Outreach Committee, Ambassador’s Committee, and Events Committee. For general body and Ambassador membership, please inquire at Clubbing Night. For more information or questions regarding WUEC, contact Francine Dong, President: fdong@wharton.upenn.edu or visit https://groups.wharton.upenn.edu/wuec/home/
The Wharton Undergraduate Finance & Technology Group (WUFT) is the University of Pennsylvania’s premier undergraduate FinTech organization, although we operate broadly at the intersection of finance and technology. Uniting innovative technology, business leaders, and passionate students, WUFT aims to (1) provide students opportunities to engage in financial innovation via technology; (2) develop a community of FinTech-focused students, entrepreneurs, and investors; and (3) spur the growth of technology ventures and new applications in the business world. Throughout the year, WUFT hosts various educational events, treks (to SF, NYC, and Asia), and hands-on experiences, in order to share a comprehensive overview on the emerging fields at the intersection of finance and technology. In addition, WUFT provides members with updates on current trends through its weekly publication, The Bit.

Structure
WUFT consists of over 300 undergraduate general body members, three committees, and an executive board. General body members meet every two weeks, where they learn from leaders in the industry, engage in interesting discussions about finance and technology, or participate in various activities. Committee members meet on a weekly basis to discuss activities in the club; currently, the three committees are Education, Marketing, and Trek.

Select Events
Speaker Series: Throughout the year, we will bring in business leaders and companies to speak about trends in FinTech. 2019-2020 WUFT speakers include Dan D’Aniello (Carlyle Founder), Andy Rachleff (Benchmark/Wealthfront Founder), and Tsivi Gal (Morgan Stanley CTO). Topics include venture capital, private equity, cryptocurrencies, consumer-focused finance, wealth management automation, mobile payment systems, lending and microfinance, and insurance technologies.

San Francisco Tech Trek: WUFT members have the unique opportunity of visiting innovative tech companies and learning about the latest development in the industry. Past companies visited include Google, Vista Equity Partners, Accel, Y Combinator, Square, and Morgan Stanley, Educational Lectures: WUFT members will both lead and participate in club discussions over latest trends in finance and technology.

How to Join
All undergraduate students are welcome to participate in WUFT’s events and become general body members. Recruitment for WUFT’s committees will be conducted through interviews. For general body membership, please visit the WUFT booth at the Wharton Clubbing Night. For more information, visit www.wuft.io or contact us at fintechgroup@wharton.upenn.edu
WUFC aims to be your primary finance resource throughout your time at Penn. We provide resources for students ranging from those who are just beginning to learn about finance to those who are looking for internships and jobs in the finance industry. Throughout the year, WUFC hosts events that expose students to the finance industry, including panels and educational workshops, office visits, case competitions, senior speakers, socials, networking opportunities, and more.

Structure

WUFC has an executive board (17 members), committees, and general body members (2000+ members). Our 7 committees are Corporate Relations, Financial Analysis, Events, Membership, Marketing, Tech, and the Case Team.

New Student Programming and Sample Events

Secrets of Wall Street: Senior directors from banks such as Goldman Sachs, Credit Suisse, and Citi discuss the finance industry and their careers.

10 Steps to OCR: This is a 10-week in-depth program geared towards training you to succeed in every step of recruiting. Each workshop in the program will focus on one aspect of recruiting, such as building your resume or acing technical interviews.

Introduction to Financial Modeling Series: Led by an MBA student with previous IB and buy-side experience, the workshops helped interested students gain financial modeling experience.

New Student Programming: Throughout the fall semester we will have several events for students to become familiar with the club such as an Industry Exploration Panel led by students with experience in different finance fields. We will also host several General Body Meetings that will expose students to other members and center around key finance topics.

Available Positions and How to Join

WUFC will be recruiting for committee members across all functions, the Case Team will also be open to all students. For general body membership, come out to our events throughout the semester, subscribe to our listserv, and find out more from our club leaders at Clubbing Night.

For more information or questions regarding WUFC, visit www.whartonfinanceclub.com or contact the current Co-Presidents at their emails below:

The mission of the Wharton Undergraduate Giving Society is to promote a culture of generosity in the Wharton undergraduate community through interactive and social events. We want to offer a different outlet from the pre-professional atmosphere at Wharton.

Structure
Our board consists of two Co-Presidents and VPs for Events and Communications. Each VP is responsible for his or her own committee. Any events hosted by WUGS are open to any student in the Penn community and will be shared with everyone on our listserv.

New Student Programming
We will be holding a Meet the Board social in the fall, targeted at first-years and transfer students. Come out to learn more about WUGS, socialize with members of board, ask questions about Penn and life, etc. We want to get to know all of you personally!

Events
WUGS holds a wide range of events throughout the academic year. In the past, we have had speaker events by leaders of social enterprises, discussions on the philosophy of generosity, negotiations workshops, speed networking events to connect seniors with underclassmen, work-life balance panels with MBA students, impact investing information sessions, collaboration events with other clubs, and social events to build a sense of community within WUGS.

This year, we are planning a variety of events, from coffee pairs to meet new students to MBA panels on unconventional career paths.

Available Positions and How to Join
WUGS will be recruiting committee members for our two committees- Events and Communications. We will be hosting events in the fall where you can meet club members and learn more about their experiences.

For more information or questions regarding WUGS, contact Co-President Reagan Coats at crcoats@wharton.upenn.edu. We look forward to meeting you!
Wharton Undergraduate Healthcare Club

WUHC, established in 2008, aims to educate our members on current issues in the health care industry and provide direct pathways to career opportunities. Our members’ interests cover a wide range of fields from life sciences and technology to providers and payers, across regulation and policy to entrepreneurship as well as finance and consulting. We were awarded Wharton Council’s Best Large Club in 2016, Most Collaborative Event in 2017, and Best Event in 2019.

Structure
WUHC is organized by its executive board and committees. The board consists of: Two Co-Presidents, VP of Member Engagement, VP of Marketing and Communications, VP of Finance and Development, seven Committee Chairs (Conversations, Career Development, Entrepreneurship, Penn Healthcare Review, Impact, Consulting, and Conference). Each committee varies in size and structure according to their respective goals and resource needs. WUHC has 70+ Committee Members, and 300+ General Body Members.

Events
Annual Undergraduate Healthcare Conference: The nation’s largest undergraduate healthcare and business conference. A gathering of 200+ students, faculty, and industry leaders discussing hot button issues with keynotes, panels, a case competition, workshops, and networking. Recent keynotes: Bernard J. Tyson, Chief Executive Officer of Kaiser Permanente, and Luis J. Tyson, Chief Medical Officer of Pfizer Vaccines.
WUHC Incubator Initiative: The incubator is a 10-week program consisting of interactive workshops led by executives, mentorship from industry experts, informative digital resources and the chance to win cash prizes through a culminating pitch competition. Each team’s goal is to find a marketable solution for a healthcare problem.
Keynote Speaker Events: Every semester, WUHC invites prominent speakers from across the healthcare industry to speak about their career experiences. In past years, we have brought in Stanley Prusiner (Nobel Laureate in Physiology or Medicine), James Hamblin (Senior Editor at The Atlantic), and more.
Semesterly Corporate Dinner: WUHC invites a select group of 8-10 executives/professionals to campus to have a formal dinner and network with WUHC members. A recent guest was Dr. Arthur Klein, President of the Mount Sinai Health Network.
Site Visits, Luncheons, Alumni Networking, OCR events, Case Competitions, Penn Healthcare Review publications…and over 40 more events that WUHC holds each year!

New Student Programming
WUHC Consulting is open to any student interested in learning more about healthcare and learning consulting skills specific to the field. The fall semester of WUHC Consulting’s programming offers peer-led discussions on specific healthcare topics streamlining into project-based consulting work.

How to Join
We are constantly seeking new committee members. Everyone with an interest in healthcare is encouraged to apply regardless of healthcare background. Applications will open following two General Body Meetings in early September. Applicants will selectively be invited for an 15-20 minute interview and decisions will follow shortly thereafter. All students can become General Body Members, which does not require an application.

Visit Wharton COUNCIL
The Wharton Undergraduate Hospitality and Travel Club seeks to provide a forum for students to increase their knowledge, grow their network, and gain exposure to the hospitality and travel industries through speaker, recruiting, and networking events and behind-the-scenes visits to hotels and restaurants.

Structure
The club has three levels: the executive board, the committees, and the general body. Usually the executive board and committees are composed of 25 people. The club currently has more than 100 active general members.

Events
All of our events are open to all students, not just members of committees.

New York City Trek: Each semester we go to New York City for a day to visit offices and sites of various industry-leading firms. During the past year, we have visited Milk Bar’s headquarters, Eleven Madison Park – a Michelin Star Restaurant, Chelsea Market, The Aviary, and Union Square Hospitality Group’s headquarters. We subsidize transportation and free food is provided at the visits.

Hospitality Treks: While the NYC trek is a mainstay of our club and a tradition we enjoy keeping up, we also plan treks to DC, Vegas, and many local ones. Our treks consist of a behind-the-scenes look at hotels or corporate headquarters of firms in the industry to learn more about what goes into running a world class business. Our treks in Philadelphia in the past have included Reading Terminal Market, Saxbys, Philadelphia Christmas Market, and Chinatown restaurants.

Speaker Events: A speaker series featuring several high-profile hospitality leaders and entrepreneurs, focused on networking and learning about the career options in the industry. Past events include Danny Meyer (restaurant guru & founder of Shake Shack), and Kevin Sorbo (Top Chef winner), among others.

Career Panels: Q&A-style panels featuring MBA students who have worked full-time positions at airline, hotel, and other hospitality and travel companies, and panels with undergraduate students who have worked internships in the hospitality and travel industry. These panels focus on recruiting tips, intimate looks into the various roles, and networking. Past panelists have worked at Marriott, HotelTonight, LatAm Airlines, BCG within hospitality consulting, and more.

Consulting Projects: These are projects that the consulting committee works on. Currently, we are working on a project with The Inn at Penn, the Hilton hotel on campus, as our client.

How to Join/Available Positions:
We will be recruiting for the Corporate Liaison, Public Relations, and Consulting committees in September. Everyone is welcome to apply to our club and to as many committees as they are interested in. We do just one round of interviews, and each committee follows the same timeline.

New Student Programming
Industry Exploration: Join us for a tour through the hospitality & travel industries! We’ll talk major changes in hotels, restaurants, and travel, and we’ll play fun hospitality & travel-related games (did someone say tour the world with Twister?) Meet people who love what you do, and learn something new too!

Philly Food Trek: Be introduced to Philly’s vibrant and innovative food scene as we explore major food destinations in Center City like Reading Terminal Market and more. The next time you and your friends find yourselves downtown, you’ll know where to go!

For more information or questions regarding WUHT, contact Shreya Subramanian, President: slsub@wharton.upenn.edu.
WUREC is dedicated to educating the Penn community about the commercial real estate industry and exposing students to the various opportunities in the field. It seeks to provide an intellectual environment that not only allows students to learn but also to network and build meaningful foundations for success in the real estate industry.

Structure
There is one President, a Treasurer, and Directors of the Treks, Speakers, Communications, Membership & Development, and Careers Committees. Board positions are by appointment (or application), and committee members are selected via an interview process early in the fall semester.

Events

_Treks:_ We organize trips to major real estate markets, including New York, D.C., and Miami where we tour project sites and meet with leading real estate professionals. In Miami, we have met with Jorge Perez of The Related Group, Mayor Suarez, Gil Dezer, Jules and Eddie Trump, Jackie Soffer and others. Last year in NYC, we met with Larry Silverstein, Jeff Sutton, Tom Shapiro, Jeff Blau and Ronald Kravit. We also toured One Vanderbilt with SL Green and World Trade Center 4 with Silverstein and visited Blackstone, L&L, JPM, and Vornado, among others.

_Speaker Series & Zell/Lurie:_ We host various on-campus speaking events throughout the year. Past speakers include David Lazarus from Eastdil and Peter Linneman from Linneman Associates. Members also gain access to Zell/Lurie programs, including the Ballard Luncheon Series, Fall/Spring Conferences, Resume Book, and Mentorship Program with the MBA real estate club.

_Education:_ Case competitions and internal workshops educate members on real estate investing and help them prepare for interviews and Wharton’s real estate coursework. Past case competitions and workshops include the Cornell International Real Estate Competition and Argus/excel modeling workshops.

New Student Programming (NSP)

Our NSP events seek to create an educational and communal environment for all underclassmen to explore the real estate industry and foster their interests in the field. Events may include Real Estate 101 Workshops, Lunch & Learn with the Board, Career Panels, Quizzo Nights, Roundtable Discussions, and Treks Experience Sharing.

How to Join
Visit WUREC at Wharton Clubbing Night and join our listserv to receive announcements on important meeting dates, application deadlines, upcoming events, and recruiting information. Stay tuned for details on our upcoming fall kick-off GBM. You can sign up for our listserv by sending an email to Vikrant Ragula at vragula@wharton.upenn.edu.

It is free and there is no application to be added to our listserv and attend basic events like our GBMs, speaker events, and Membership and Development events. There is a $30 lifetime fee if you want to have access to more events including the Zell/Lurie events as well as being able to apply for Treks. Signup information will be given during our first few GBMs.

Available Positions
Available positions in the fall include committee members of Treks, Communications, Speakers, Membership & Development, and Careers. These positions are open to all class years. Number of positions available will vary by committee but every committee has a maximum of 1 interview. For more information or questions regarding WUREC, contact Jerry Rehil (President) or Elijah Levine (Director of Membership and Development) at rehill@wharton.upenn.edu and elijahl@wharton.upenn.edu
The Wharton Undergraduate Society of Accounting (WUSA) offers the platform to explore accounting across disciplines and industries, providing a professional network for experiential learning, discovery, and development. We cultivate our members’ insight, enthusiasm, and understanding of the language of business. Spanning across myriad competencies, WUSA is about all things business.

Structure: WUSA’s structure consists of four components: Operating Board (the Executive Board and Junior Executive Board), Operating Team, Business Team, and general body members. The Operating Team consists of the marketing, finance, technology, operations, and outreach committees. For individuals interested in applying business and accounting knowledge to service the broader Philadelphia community, the Business Team is comprised of three divisions: Audit, Tax, and IMPACT. Audit provides assurance services for organizational needs, Tax assists Philadelphia residents file income taxes, and IMPACT (the pro bono business advisory arm) consults for small businesses in the Philadelphia region.

Events: WUSA hosts the following types of events:
- Speaker and Panel Events
- Case Competitions
- Educational Sessions (including ACCT 101/102 Programming)
- Professional Development Activities
- Social Events
- Study Breaks

New Student Programming: WUSA hosts information sessions at the start of each semester for new general body members and potential candidates for the Operating Board. WUSA provides educational programming with case studies on real projects WUSA has spearheaded.

Available Positions: WUSA is recruiting for Business Team analysts. We welcome interested members to come to an NSP event to find out more about available positions and highly recommend applying to more than one committee!

How to Join:
Students are invited to become general body members by attending our events and by signing up for our club listserv.

For more information or questions regarding WUSA, students are welcome to contact Kaitlin Torres, WUSA President, at wusa.penn@gmail.com.
Wharton Women is one of the largest student organizations at Penn, and its mission is to empower women to explore careers in business. Whether you are interested in listening to influential guest speakers, networking with the club’s twenty plus corporate sponsors, volunteering at a high school conference to inspire the next generation of female leaders, or teaching financial literacy in the West Philadelphia community, Wharton Women has something for you!

Structure
We hope that as many students as possible are able to attend our events throughout their time at Penn. Our club is led by a 10-person Executive Board, and almost every member of the Board oversees one or more committees. First-year students are welcome to apply to our committees; however, students can also attend our general body meetings and Cornerstone events to learn more about the club before becoming further involved.

Events
Annual Dinner: Begin the night by networking with over fifty corporate representatives at a career fair. Afterwards, enjoy dinner during a keynote presentation led by a powerful woman in business.

Business Conference: Female leaders from a variety of industries join Wharton Women for a day of engaging discussion and learning.

Dollar Diva Conference: Spend the day with high school girls from West Philadelphia and teach them valuable personal finance skills.

First-Year Buddies (New Student Programming): Come meet other WW members and be assigned to a wonderful upperclassmen WW mentor to help you learn the best way to transition into school! Mentors will have the opportunity to meet with their mentors at multiple other events planned by WW throughout the semester.

How to Join
Anyone is welcome to become a member of Wharton Women. Please see our Facebook Page (Wharton Women Undergraduates) or our website (http://www.whartonwomen-penn.com/) to learn more about joining our listserv and becoming a formal member.

For more information or questions regarding Wharton Women, contact Rhea Nangia, the President. Don’t hesitate to reach out: ranga@wharton.upenn.edu
Emerging clubs are clubs in the process of applying for Wharton Council recognition. These can range from a club in ideation phase to a fully existing club. Wharton Council recognition comes with many benefits, including a budget and a spot at our Clubbing Night! There are three main criteria for becoming a Wharton Council recognized club:

1. Must fulfill a unique niche
2. Must have at least 25 members
3. Must operate to our programming standards.

More detailed requirements can be found on our website whartoncouncil.org, in addition to policies and procedures. Congratulations to our newly recognized club, The Signal at Penn! If you are interested in gaining Wharton Council recognition, please reach out to the Recognitions chair, Bailey McClain-Avant, bmcl@wharton.upenn.edu.
AgriBusiness Club (ABC) is a creativity-driven organization that aims to share and promote the knowledge and skills of AgriBusiness and related fields to the Wharton and UPenn undergrad community. With core values of inclusion, diversity of thought, persistence, and innovation, the club provides an open space where students can engage in a vast range of opportunities in the field of agri-consulting, agri-tech, agro-finance, and research. AgriBusiness club is open to all Penn students.

Structure:
General membership of the club is open to all interested students. General members get access to the email newsletter, General Body Meetings (GBMs), and all club events.

The club’s core functioning is divided into four committees - Consulting, Research, Finance, and Outreach. Any student can apply to be an Associate in these committees. The duties of the associates are determined based on their committees with their primary responsibility being to work toward the purpose of their committee and the overall vision of the club.

The club’s board consists of President(s) and Committee Directors. The President(s) is(are) elected while the board members are appointed.

Events:
The club hosts a wide range of events. Events that occur regularly throughout the semester include general body meetings, research presentations, and speaker/panel events on breakthroughs in agriculture, agri-tech, agri-finance, and other related fields. The club also aims to host an annual agriculture festival celebration on campus and at least once a semester trek to farms and agribusiness companies. The club may also expand into competitive events and agribusiness conferences.

Committees hold their own team-bonding events for their Associates.

All club events, except for committee bonding sessions, are open to all Penn students.

Available Positions:
We will be recruiting associates for all committees in the fall.

How to Join:
Students can email Cole Hancock (cnh@wharton.upenn.edu) and Anannya Shandilya (anannya@wharton.upenn.edu) with any queries and to get placed on the club listserv where all the information is distributed.
Consult Your Community (CYC) is founded on the idea of giving back to the local community through pro-bono consulting projects geared specifically towards helping minority and women-owned businesses. Our new members get analyst-level training and have the opportunity to utilize these skills first-hand through their engagements. Every semester, we partner with a number of local businesses where our CYC consultants get the opportunity to help solve unique problems in each business.

Recruitment Process: The recruitment process for CYC involves a written application and one round of interviews. The written application includes basic information about the applicant along with a few short answer questions. The interview is similar to the written application with the addition of a short case. This will not involve any prior knowledge and is simply to see how an applicant approaches problem solving.

Structure: CYC structure all focuses around our consulting engagements. Every new member will be placed in a consulting engagement at the beginning of the semester and work with that same engagement throughout the semester. Each engagement is led by a project leader who has had experience with CYC consulting in the past. Beyond the engagements, the Executive Board exists to oversee the entire club and ensure the club continues to thrive.

Events: The club hosts events both for the undergraduate population as a whole and specifically for the CYC members. Preceding the application, CYC will host at least one informational session to give an overview of the club and provide examples of interview questions. Later in the semester, CYC will host Education Sessions that are mandatory new student programming but also open to all undergrads. CYC will also host guest speakers open to all undergrads. Regarding the members of CYC, there will be General Body Meetings around once a month, and social events outside of our working environment.

How to Join: CYC is recruiting General Body Members who will act as consultants. Applications will open up around early-mid September. Please attend any information sessions or reach out to find out more specifics about the recruiting process.

For more information or questions regarding CYC, contact Adam Greene, President, or the general CYC email: greenead@wharton.upenn.edu or upenn@consultyourcommunity.org
Distressed Investing Group (DIG) serves as a resource for undergraduate students interested in distressed investing and restructuring. DIG seeks to provide educational content and a forum for discussion within Penn for undergraduates interested in pursuing careers as restructuring consultants, financial advisors to distressed companies and their creditors, or investors in distressed securities across the capital structure. DIG also provides students with a professional network for development within the distressed investing space and leverage the expertise of industry professionals, especially Wharton alumni.

Structure
There are two Co-Presidents, four Chairmen, one Treasurer, two EVPs, and 6 VPs. There are 3 committees (Events, Technology, Internal Operations) and over 200 general body members. Certain events will only be open to board members so application to join the board is highly encouraged.

Events
Restructuring and Distressed Investing Course: An introductory four-part workshop led by DIG board member on restructuring and distressed investing. The course took place over four sessions and covered a broad range of topics at a greater level of detail than restructuring courses offered by the Finance Department or popular books like Stephen Moyer's Distressed Debt Analysis.

Restructuring Case Study on Revlon: An experienced analyst from Foxhill Capital, distressed debt fund based in New Jersey, presented a case study on Revlon and discussed its complex capital structure. DIG co-hosted the event with WHFC.

GBM with Goldin Associates: Goldin Associates, a restructuring focused investment bank, presented a career in restructuring advisory to underclassmen. The presentation featured an overview of the industry and a restructuring case study. DIG board introduced the club and announced upcoming events.

How to Join
Applications will be made available by September and will be due a week after they are published. We will take candidates for committees including Events, Operations, Technology. For general body membership, please inquire at Clubbing Night or email distressedinvestinggroup@gmail.com. First-years will be able to first interact with the club during our GBM 1: DIG recruiting info session. Visit DIG website at https://distressedinvestin.wixsite.com/distressedinvesting

For more information or questions regarding DIG, email Brendan Burns or Chelsea Liu

Penn Diversity and Inclusion Strategic Consulting (DISC) provides pro-bono consulting services to nonprofit and for-profit organizations around the world on diversity and inclusion (D&I). We apply insights from extensive research and experience in the field of D&I to support clients’ talent management goals. We have worked with global clients to improve recruitment strategies, highlight internal successes, and develop quantitative D&I evaluations.

Structure
Project teams of 5-7 students collaborate on one consulting project each semester, led by a project leader. Students are assigned to teams based on interest. The project leader who scopes the project and manages the client relationship. DISC members are considered for project leader and executive board roles after participating for one semester. The executive board includes co-president, vice president operations, vice president external relations, and vice president marketing positions.

Events
DISC brings in practitioners in the D&I space to share their experiences with students. Previous experiences have had experience advising companies, governments, and non-profit organizations around D&I and have worked in companies including Accenture, Teva Pharmaceuticals, and Accolade in their D&I departments. DISC also trains students in techniques including bias-free recruiting and interviewing and has organized short case competitions.

In the 2020-21 school year, DISC will host speaker events that allow students to interact with practitioners in the D&I space. In particular, we are interested in connecting with young professionals who are working directly in D&I or have become involved in a D&I initiative at their organization. DISC will also provide trainings in bias-free techniques and facilitate intergroup dialogues.

New Student Programming
Our NSP events are geared toward providing interested students a space to discuss D&I topics. This includes having a discussion based event where we explore a particular topic (inadvertent effects of high parental leave, effectiveness of allyship groups, etc). The other event is a case workshop on how to approach a D&I related case question, including a sample case and tips for consulting case interviews.

Available Positions
Students can apply to join a consulting project team. Positions on the following committees are also available: events, client sourcing and insights.

How to Join
Students can visit penndisc.com where they can sign up for our listserv and complete the online application.
Penn Wharton Ideas for Action (I4A) is a club run by Penn students in collaboration with the World Bank Group and the Zicklin Center for Business Ethics Research at the Wharton School that encourages youth involvement in the United Nations Sustainable Development Agenda.

Structure: The club consists of an executive board and three committees; Executive, Accelerator, and Outreach.
The executive board consists of five members: Two Co-Presidents (Responsible for oversight of the club’s tasks and managing coordination of tasks between the three committees), Executive Committee Chair, Accelerator Committee Chair, Outreach Committee Chair.

The descriptions of the responsibilities of the three committees are outlined below.

- Accelerator committee: in charge of leading consulting projects for competition winners have the position of project leads.
- Executive committee members: in charge of organizing the Ideas for Action and SDGs and HER competition and promoting the event through online presence and Ideation labs
- Outreach committee members: in charge of building partnerships to facilitate the competition have the position of Outreach committee member.

Events: Our two flagship events are the annual Ideas for Action competition and the annual SDGs and HER competition.

The Ideas for Action competition is a youth competition centered around financing sustainable development. The competition is open to students and young professionals from around the world interested in designing ideas for financing and implementing the UN’s Sustainable Development Goals. Winners of the competition present their ideas during the IMF & World Bank Annual Meetings, receive support from a dedicated startup accelerator at the Wharton School, and benefit from unique networking opportunities with other young leaders as well as some of the most senior decision-makers in international development, academia, and the private sector. In 2018, Ideas for Action received proposals from 163 countries, 4,000 teams and 13,000 innovators. The SDGs and HER competition, while structurally similar, is specifically for female entrepreneurs with innovative ideas. Beyond that, we host speaker events with World Bank officials and International Development experts, design-thinking workshops...etc.

Each semester, we host speaker events in collaboration with the Legal Studies department, hosting speakers from the World Bank, International Monetary Fund, and the UN. Such events are open to all. We also host the I4A Design Thinking Ideation workshop every semester, which is an interactive learning experience that is open to all.

New Student Programming: At the beginning of each semester, we host an open GBM for everyone to discuss the importance of SDGs, how we can make an impact, and how students can get involved with them through existing Penn resources. We also invite speakers from either the World Bank or the Zicklin Center at Wharton to engage in exciting debates with the students!

Available Positions: Executive committee member, Accelerator committee member, and Outreach Committee Member. Applications for executive board positions open at the end of the fall semester.

How to Join: We usually have a booth at the SAC fair if students want to learn more about the club and have the chance to ask questions directly. If candidates wish to join, they can visit our website (https://ideas4action.org/), sign up for our listserv, follow our Penn-specific Facebook page to stay tuned to application opportunities. Else, they can contact Joud Tabaza (jtabaza@wharton.upenn.edu) or Pallavi Menon (pallavim@wharton.upenn.edu).
Penn Common Cents (PCC) is Penn’s first undergraduate personal finance club with the goal of leading personal finance education for undergraduates, graduates, and local high school students. Through our unique and innovative events, we strive to make personal finance more interesting while emphasizing its ever growing importance in today’s world; financial literacy forms the crux of our futures, and it’s better to start now than later. We are broken up into three parts: an executive board, committee members, and a general body.

Structure

Committees include: Content Committee (3 people), Design Committee (2 people), Marketing & Outreach Committee (3 people)

Events
Events are open to everyone, including non-club members. Past Events have included:
- Speaker events with famous alumni like NFL player Brandon Copeland and other prominent individuals
- Informational events covering topics like credit cards, investing, student loans, and more
- Live cooking event with Penn Appetit emphasizing the financial and time benefits of meal prepping in college

Future Events include:
- Taxes 101: Sahil Vakil, Myra Wealth CEO, will come and speak to Penn students about the basics of taxes and how to manage your finances through school. Partnering with the Assembly of International Students for this event to emphasize international student personal finances
- Why Personal Finance: Swati Patel, founder of Wharton MBA Common Cents, will come to Penn to speak about her involvement in personal finance and why it is so important in today’s society
- A Personal Finance Fireside Chat: Brandon Copeland—NFL player, prominent personal finance advocate, and Penn alum—will come to Penn to talk about his experiences in personal finance, and how he manages it as an NFL player
- Credit Cards 101: PCC will present an interactive event in which participants will learn about credit card basics and then apply their knowledge in a workshop thereafter
- Masterchef: PCC will host a live cooking event about the importance of meal prepping and thinking about your food expenses whilst demonstrating how to meal prep and cook simple meals
- How to manage your money after your first internship: PCC will bring in a panel of Wharton MBA who will talk about their experiences in dealing with their personal finances after getting their first jobs and internships

New Student Programming
Interactive credit card workshops: Work with other students in learning about credit card basics and developing a plan to tackle your credit as soon you get into college. Topics include credit score, credit card hacks, recommended credit cards, and more.

Available Positions
Content Committee (should have personal finance experience) - Recruiting 2 people
Design Committee (do not need to have personal finance experience) - Recruiting 1 person
Marketing & Outreach Committee (do not need to have personal finance experience) - Recruiting 2 people
There may be more; will be updated regularly!

How to Join
Anyone can join as a general body member by signing up for our listserv on https://www.penncommoncents.com. Full applications for committees and other available positions will be released early in fall.

For questions regarding PCC, contact the President: John Ta (jta2000@sas.upenn.edu), or Vice President: Vivek Olumbe (olumbe@wharton.upenn.edu).
About Sponsored Student Organizations

Sponsored student organizations work closely with administrators in the Undergraduate Division and other Wharton departments to develop programming and initiatives to support students and enhance the Wharton experience.

These organizations typically follow unique recruiting processes and require multiple year commitments. For a complete list of sponsored student organizations, please visit undergrad-inside.wharton.upenn.edu/student-organizations/.

Note: Sponsored student organizations do not follow Wharton Council recruitment or club policies. Please visit each organization’s page in the booklet or website to learn more about their policies.
The Social Impact Advisory Board (SIAB) exists to further the vision of Wharton as a force for social good. Board members work closely with the Wharton Social Impact Initiative (WSII) to develop and strengthen social impact activities. SIAB serves as an umbrella group for all undergraduate social impact. The ultimate goal is to drive integration and coordination of activities and opportunities, identify synergies, and support new and existing partnerships and initiatives.

Recruitment Process:
There is one structured interview in which all candidates are asked the same questions. There is also a short written application where candidates can convey their interest in social impact at Wharton. All students are encouraged to apply - even if they do not feel they have significant social impact experience.

Structure:
SIAB is organized around committees for different initiatives including speaker events and business treks. Juniors and seniors lead each committee and the board as a whole as co-chairs.

Events:
We organize a business trek every semester that allows students to tour offices and connect with leaders of socially impactful businesses. Previously we have visited Saxbys, United by Blue, EAT Café, JEVS Human Services, Mushmina, and Lobo Mau. We also bring in practitioners from philanthropy, impact investing, and social enterprises to share their expertise at speaker events. All of our events are open to the entire Penn community.

New Student Programming:
Our NSPs focus on introducing new students to social impact at Wharton. This has included interactive sessions like “Social Impact 101” and student panels discussing their involvement in various clubs and internships.

Available Positions:
Students can apply to be a part of the board this fall and will sign up for a committee upon acceptance.

How to Join:
Students can find our application at www.whartonundergradsocialimpact.com. For questions, please contact whartonsiab@wharton.upenn.edu.
Wharton Alumni Relations Council (WARC) offers unparalleled access to high-profile Wharton Alumni from all industries including financial services, consulting, technology, and venture capital. In our role, we are tasked with leveraging the robust Wharton alumni network to better educate and provide access to the undergraduate body.

Recruitment Process: We have three rounds of interviews (stemming from typically around 120 applicants to fill four to five spots per year). There is an online written application that is sent out in the fall. First-years may join the committee in the fall, and we then hold elections for board positions at the end of the semester within the committee. WARC is a four-year commitment open to any Wharton undergraduate.

Structure: WARC works in project groups that coordinate with Wharton External Affairs and The Wharton Undergraduate Division. These groups shift by semester and event. The committee has a flat structure, with the exception of a Chair and two executive members, who are elected at the end of every fall semester. These three members simply help coordinate between the whole committee and External Affairs.

Events: Our events are all open events to any Penn student, with a focus on Wharton undergraduates. We host events with Wharton alumni across all fields and industries. These range from recent alumni to long-term alumni, as well as those beginning their careers and those who are further into their careers, for example, executives at Fortune 500 firms. Our events range from coffee chats to dinners to panels and keynotes. We also have recurring events such as the Sophomore Alumni Mentorship Program.

New Student Programming: Our NSPs vary by year. We typically partner with other Wharton clubs to lead NSPs on networking, accessing Wharton alumni resources, and recruiting tips.

Available Positions: We will have four or five open positions on the committee for incoming first-years.

How to Join: We will send out a Wharton Undergrad email to all first-years in the fall with details on the application and info sessions. If you have questions, you may contact WARC@wharton.upenn.edu.
Wharton Ambassadors (WHAMB) is a Wharton-division sponsored student organization that works closely with the Wharton Undergraduate Division administration to conduct information sessions and coffee chats for prospective students and families, to contribute to admitted-student events, and to participate in high school outreach. As the “face of the Wharton Undergraduate Program,” Wharton Ambassadors uphold and represent the Wharton brand and experience and provide input on outreach marketing and communications. Wharton Ambassadors is also a tight-knit community of students committed to a well-rounded academic and social experience here at Wharton.

Recruitment
There is a written application and two rounds of interview. First round is a typical interview; second round is a practice presentation using a sample of our official slides and notes.

Structure
All members are Ambassadors. Executive Board includes two Co-Presidents, VP of Recruitment and Quaker Days, VP of Education, VP of Internal Affairs, VP of External Affairs, and VP of Ambassador Engagement.

Events
We host Wharton information sessions for prospective students and families, and coffee chats with just the prospective students. We also have monthly GBMs and social events for Ambassadors.

New Student Programming
We host public speaking workshops and networking workshops.

How to Join
Recruiting information, including our club information sessions, NSPs, application deadlines, etc. will all be posted in the fall on our campus groups website (https://groups.wharton.upenn.edu/whamb/home/), in Facebook events/groups, and in Wharton listserv emails. You can also find us at the Wharton Club Fair in the fall, where you can add your name to our recruiting listserv so you won’t miss any updates.

Please contact ambassadors@wharton.upenn.edu if you have any questions.
The mission of the cohort system is to create small, cohesive communities for a diverse Wharton undergraduate population. Leaders in the cohort system work collaboratively to plan activities and events for their individual cohorts and the larger Wharton community.

Structure
Wharton Cohorts is led by two co-chairs who oversee 9 different cohort boards. All first-year and transfer students are placed in one of 9 different cohorts, making all Wharton students general body members. Each cohort board consists of one Executive Director and a few Cohort Directors. Additionally, cohort leaders have the opportunity to serve in additional leadership roles called chair positions (e.g., Mentorship, Transfer Students, Internal Affairs, and Events.)

Recruitment Process
There is a written application, followed by 1 round of interview comprised of 1 group interview and 1 interview with The Wharton Undergraduate Division. Fall recruiting is only open for the First-Year Representative position within that specific cohort (only open to first-years). Spring recruiting is open to students of all class years (with the exception of seniors) for the positions of Executive Cohort Director and Cohort Director.

Events
Each cohort hosts individual cohort-specific events ranging from academic support to off-campus exploration to community bonding. These individual cohort events are open to all students in that particular cohort.
Wharton Cohorts also hosts cohort-wide events, some of which are reserved for the first-year students like the Amazing Cohort Race and some of which are open to all Wharton students, such as the Winter Whartonland and Abundant Love.

Available Positions
First-Year Representative (by cohort), available to all first-year Wharton students

How to Join
Students can contact their cohort leaders to ask about applying. For any questions, please contact co-chairs Daniel Leva (danleva@wharton.upenn.edu) or Clio Sun (cliosun@wharton.upenn.edu).
The Wharton Dean's Undergraduate Advisory Board (WAB) holds the mission of enhancing the Wharton undergraduate experience by collaborating with the administration to generate and implement academic initiatives that have a positive impact on the learning environment. The Board closely collaborates with the Dean of Wharton, the Vice Dean, and the Managing Director of the Undergraduate Division, in addition to other student leadership organizations and professors to achieve its mission.

Recruitment Process: WAB requires a written application via the Wharton Common Application, including the personal statement and a response to a supplementary prompt.

There are two rounds of interviews, the first being a collaborative interview with an individual reflection, and a final round interview with the full board.

WAB only accepts applications from first and second-year students during the first recruitment timeline of the fall semester.

Structure: The board has approximately 20 students on it at a time. Students selected to join the board will remain on the board until they graduate. WAB has a flat hierarchy structure with two co-chairs that handle administrative duties. Board members join multiple initiative teams of 3-5 students each semester and can expect an average weekly time commitment of 5-10 hours. Initiatives change each semester and focus on a number of things ranging from creating case competitions to advising Wharton administrators and departments on curriculum restructuring.

Events: We host seminars, Wharton courses, case competitions, and many other student-facing events.

- HuntsmanHacks: HuntsmanHacks is Wharton's signature one-day case competition specifically designed for underclassmen. Hundreds of first and second-year students get to apply concepts from their core business courses to real company challenges in teams of 4-5. They also have the opportunity to work closely with executives from the event's partner company, which in the past has been Alibaba, Vox Media, and Allbirds.

- WAB Seminars: WAB Seminars is a series of student-taught courses that encourage learning for the sake of learning. There are skills that many students want to explore, yet want to do so outside of a formal class setting. WAB Seminar topics have included Coding for Absolute Beginners, Photoshop, Blockchain Basics, Smart Contract Programming, Mobile App Design, and Financial Modeling & Excel. WAB Seminars is a great way for students to both share their knowledge of certain skills and learn in an informal setting.

- Managing Disruptive Change: Managing Disruptive Change (MDC) is Wharton's premiere incubator course model that exposes students to particular industries, ideas, or issues through collaborative partnerships between Wharton faculty and high-profile guest lecturers. The half-credit course's topic is selected each year by the student body. WAB, in partnership with Professor Mauro Guillen, organized the class.

How to Join: At the beginning of each academic year, a cohort of 5-6 first or second-year students are selected to join the board. We encourage interested students to come to our information sessions at the beginning of the year and to visit our website to learn more about the Board. WAB only recruits in the fall and our recruitment process consists of two rounds of interviews. During the first round interview you will work in groups to develop a proposal to solve a hypothetical issue pertaining to Wharton students. The second interview is with the full board.

Wharton Equity, Diversity, and Inclusion Group (WEDIG) focuses on bridging the gap in satisfaction for groups that have been historically less satisfied, including underrepresented minorities. We want to make Wharton a place where everyone can feel they belong, no matter their identity: race, gender, sexual orientation, religion, disability, or socio-economic background.

Recruitment Process

For WEDIG Board positions, there will be a written application and two rounds of interviews. To join a WEDIG initiative (committee) there will be a brief written application and an informal coffee chat. Recruiting for WEDIG Board positions will begin in the early Fall 2020 semester, but initiatives will take applications at various times during the semester.

Structure

The Wharton Equity, Diversity and Inclusion Group will have four to five board members per class year, including 2 co-chairs, 5-6 internal co-chairs, and 6-8 initiative points that are recruited internally and oversee our initiatives (committees). Board members are recruited from within Wharton and remain on the Board until graduation, serving on 1-2 initiatives per semester.

WEDIG is also extremely accessible and welcoming to involvement by all Wharton undergraduates. Students can join as general body members by attending ⅔ of WEDIG events in a semester or by participating in initiatives.

Events

WEDIG will host several events during the school year focusing on diversity, equity, and inclusion related issues. Through our events, we aim to improve the satisfaction of Wharton undergraduate populations with historically lower satisfaction. Events include but are not limited to our Diversity Speaker Series, Inclusive Leadership Workshops, and numerous focus groups. We will also have a monthly Town Hall where students can meet people from different backgrounds, share concerns related to equity, diversity, or inclusion, and propose initiatives.

New Student Programming

Panel discussion/workshop on navigating Wharton as a student from an underrepresented background.

Available Positions

In the fall, WEDIG will be recruiting to fill Board positions representing classes of 2021, 2022, and 2023. We will also have open initiatives related to equity, diversity, and inclusion open to participation from all class years.

How to Join

Students interested in getting involved can attend our first Town Hall in early September where we will discuss various ways to get involved and get input on potential initiatives.

For questions, contact WEDIG Co-Chairs: Oyinkansola Sofela (osofela@wharton.upenn.edu) and Javion Joyner (javion@wharton.upenn.edu) or WEDIG Co-Chairs email: WEDIGCoChairs@wharton.upenn.edu
Wharton GUIDE

Wharton GUIDE is a division-sponsored student organization dedicated to fostering meaningful one-on-one mentorship relationships between Wharton undergraduates and MBAs. We match juniors with 1st year MBAs and seniors with 2nd year MBAs to allow mentorship pairs to graduate with each other and align the timing of challenges such as recruiting, exams, and relocation after graduation.

In addition to the matching process, we coordinate social events, promote professional development opportunities, and train MBAs on effective mentorship in partnership with the McNulty Leadership Program. Underclassmen are strongly encouraged to apply for a board position.

Recruitment: A written application and one round of interview.

Structure: Wharton GUIDE is composed of 2 boards: the undergraduate board and the MBA board. The undergraduate board is led by a President and Vice President with 7 directors in the areas of:

- Career Development - Coordinates career development and recruitment programming for the MBA & undergraduate communities.
- Communities - Promotes social activities between MBAs and undergrads such as running, hiking, and other social activities.
- Partnerships - Connects with Wharton student groups and divisions on collaborative events and assists them with outreach to MBAs for panels, talks, and judging opportunities.
- Events - Hosts mentor and mentee engagement events such as our mentorship kickoff and spring picnic.
- Pop-Ups - Organizes informal programming such as small group dinners, speed networking, and other activities.
- Mentorship - Leads mentorship program recruitment, matching, and curriculum development year-round.
- Digital Engagement - Engages members across digital platforms and networks with an emphasis on digital media and content production.

Mentors and mentees are automatically members, making Wharton GUIDE the largest joint MBA-Undergraduate club with 1,200 members.

Events: The majority of our programming is in events for mentors and mentees in our community, however, we do host several MBA panels, talks, and workshops throughout the year that are open to everyone. These will be communicated directly through The Wharton Undergraduate Division and our listserv.

New Student Programming: We will be holding a board member information session at the beginning of the fall semester.

Available Positions: We are recruiting generally for the before mentioned director-level positions in the fall. All board members are eligible to participate in the mentorship matching program regardless of year.

How to Join: First-years and Sophomores: Applications to join the board will open early in the fall semester and will be sent to you directly from The Wharton Undergraduate Division. For questions on recruiting for board positions, contact Kaitlin Young at jkyoung@wharton.upenn.edu

Wharton Undergraduate Venture Fellows (WUVF) are a group of committed students who coordinate and help facilitate the learning opportunities on each Wharton Leadership Venture. This unique and talented group of students meet weekly throughout the year, participate in annual leadership trainings and have dedicated themselves to being service focused students.

Recruitment: Venture Fellows are a group of committed student leaders who help facilitate the learning opportunities on each Venture. To become a Venture Fellow there are a few steps to the recruitment process. First, a written application is required. If the written application is accepted, the candidate will move onto the interview round of the recruitment process where they will undergo approximately a 20min interview with 1 or 2 current Venture Fellows. The last step of the recruitment process will be a third round of an activity-based process that the candidate will be invited to if they make it past the first interview. Interested students can view our website for updates on next year’s application process.

Structure: There are currently two Venture Fellow Co-Chairs and four committees that work within Wharton Leadership Ventures: Development, Marketing, Internal Events, and Alumni Relations. Overall, the fellowship has a very flat structure and everyone is encouraged to take leadership roles on various projects or to propose new ideas.

Events: Intensives are a great opportunity for students who are interested in a day-long team-based Venture experience. For those seeking a longer and more immersive leadership experience, our Expeditions range from 7-10 days in length and span across the globe. Anyone who is willing to step out of their comfort zone can participate in a Venture. Cost varies and scholarship opportunities are available for students in need. Be sure to check out our website this summer for updates on next year’s Ventures.

Available Positions: Wharton Leadership Ventures recruits new Venture Fellows in the spring semester.

How to Join: If students are interested in joining Wharton Leadership Ventures, they can attend our info sessions during the semester or visit the McNulty Leadership Office in G47 in Huntsman Hall to get more information. At the info sessions, students can meet and talk to current Venture Fellows and if they visit G47 they can grab our information packets as well as talk to our Associate Director, Erica Montemayor, and Christine Fisher, our Program Manager. Then to become a Venture Fellow, the candidate must apply in the spring.

Wharton Wellness is an executive board, sponsored by the Wharton Undergraduate Division. The mission of Wharton Wellness is to pursue and implement initiatives targeted at specific wellness issues in the Wharton community by creating experiences, fostering a positive culture of well-being, and connecting clubs / students to wellness resources.

Recruitment Process: There is an initial written application. There are 2 rounds of interviews. The first is a group interview and the second round is an individual interview with 3-4 board members. Wharton Wellness recruits in the spring semester only. Only first-years and sophomores are eligible to apply.

Structure: Wharton Wellness is composed of a total of 14-20 executive board members, inclusive of the two co-chairs. These members are recruited internally in the spring of their first-years or sophomore year to ensure that they have both a comprehensive understanding of the Wharton culture, and a sufficiently long tenure to see projects through to completion. Once a part of Wharton Wellness, each member will remain on the board for the full three remaining academic years in which they are Wharton students. Each member participates on 2-3 initiatives, which are chosen during our initiative selection process at the beginning of the year.

Events:
- Big Talk: This event is loosely based on Kalina Silverman’s TED Talk regarding Big Talk and is open to any Wharton student as space permits. Our goal is to foster a greater sense of social wellness at Penn by providing an opportunity for students to develop strong, genuine connections while engaging in deep discussion.
- Breakfast Pop-Ups: Every semester, we host 2 Breakfast Pop-Ups where students can drop by and talk with board members while enjoying a tasty breakfast. These breakfasts serve as opportunities for students to share thoughts on Wellness at Wharton through Pulse Surveys.
- Curiosity Workshops: These student-taught, interactive workshops give students a chance to explore some of their peers’ extracurricular pursuits. Feel free to contact us if you have a skill you’d like to share with the Wharton community.
- Passion Projects: In partnership with the Wharton Advisory Board (WAB), we sponsor students as Passion Project Fellows to pursue their passions by providing financial support, logistical guidance, and a community of peers. Their work culminates into one big showcase in April where Fellows present their work to the Wharton Community.
- Fitness Before Finals: During the week before finals, we host a free fitness class everyday to encourage students to prioritize their physical wellbeing. Previous classes offered include Unite Fitness, HotBox Yoga, Title Boxing, and many more.

Available Positions: Interested students can apply to become a board member. Board members can later run for the co-chair position which serves a two-semester term.

How to Join: Students can visit our website (groups.wharton.upenn.edu/wwb) for more information about the board and our recruiting timeline.

If you have questions, you can contact us at whartonwellness@wharton.upenn.edu. Feel free to message us on our Facebook page as well!
About Business Fraternities

There are four business fraternities: Alpha Kappa Psi, Delta Sigma Pi, Phi Chi Theta, Phi Gamma Nu. Like social fraternities and sororities, business fraternities have a deferred rush system for first-years, who may only rush in spring semester. Upperclassmen may rush in either the fall or spring semesters. All the business fraternities listed are co-ed.

For more information about social fraternities and sororities, please visit the Office of Student Affairs/Fraternity Sorority Life website here.

Note: Business fraternities do not follow Wharton Council recruitment or club policies. Please visit each fraternity’s page in the booklet or website to learn more about their policies.
Alpha Kappa Psi is America’s first and largest co-ed professional business fraternity. Their mission is to develop skilled, ethical, connected, resourceful, and innovative business leaders through professional, social, and community service activities.

Structure
The fraternity’s leadership is composed of the B4 Board (year-long positions) and the Executive Board (semester-long positions). Brothers can optionally also be part of internal committees, such as Professional and Marketing.

Events
We host two signature events each year: Aspire to Excellence (a speaker series featuring business leaders across disciplines) and M&E Week (various events related to the Media & Entertainment industry). We also host community service events (e.g. partnership with Bridges to Wealth to conduct mock interviews for West Philadelphia students; volunteer to support the Sunday Breakfast Rescue Mission) and professional development events (e.g. Adobe skills workshop; data analytics series; mock case interviews).

Open events: Throughout the year, you can attend our Aspire to Excellence, M&E Week, and professional development workshops.

New Student Programming
We host two Open Rush events for anyone to attend: Meet the Brothers and Internship Panel. Open Rush is an opportunity to chat with current Brothers in an informal setting and ask questions about internships/industries that interest you. AKPsi will also be at the Business Fraternities Info Session.

We are recruiting for our Fall Class.

How to Join
Fall rush is for upperclassmen; first-years may rush in the spring. Visit http://upennakpsi.com/, find us on Facebook by searching @akpsiepsilonrho, or follow @akpsiupenn on Instagram! The event pages with details about Open Rush will be published on Facebook.

If you have questions, please contact Tiffany Paul, President: tipaul@wharton.upenn.edu
Delta Sigma Pi (DSP) is a professional fraternity organized to foster the study of business at universities, to encourage scholarship, social activity, and association of students for their mutual advancement by research and practice.

Structure
There is an executive board with 8 positions.

Events
Types of events: Professional, Social, Networking, Community Service.
Open events: Professional Events learning about finance, Speaker Events, etc...

New Student Programming
Rush is open to anyone interested in applying!
Please note that first-years can only apply in the spring, and we recruit sophomores in the fall.

How to Join
Students should follow our Facebook page and attend Open Rush events. Please contact us through our Facebook page, Rush chairs, or email upenndsprecruitment@gmail.com if there are questions.
Phi Chi Theta (Phi Chi, PCT) is a national coeducational business fraternity. We focus on connecting our brothers with outstanding professional opportunities while maintaining a supportive environment. Founded to enhance Wharton students’ mental and physical well-being, we have evolved into an organization that supports our members through brotherhood, professionalism, and engaging wellness events. Brothers have gone on to work at Goldman Sachs, Microsoft, McKinsey, and Google, among others.

Recruitment Process:
Like all other Greek life at Penn, Phi Chi Theta has a deferred rush system. First-year students may only rush in the spring semester, while sophomores may rush in the fall or the spring. Rush is split up into two parts: open rush and closed rush. During open rush, all are welcome to participate. In the middle of open rush, we release a written application, which is then due at the end that week. Your application will determine whether or not you are invited to closed rush, which is invitation-only and includes both formal and informal interviews.

Events:
Business 101: Our premier New Student Programming event, this is a crash course on the Wharton core curriculum. Upperclassmen teach tips and tricks on how to thrive in each course and general founding principles that are good to know at the start of each class.

MBA Networking Reception: The MBA Networking reception connects experienced MBA candidates from interesting companies to mentor undergraduates.

Workshops: Phi Chi Theta often partners up with other Penn clubs for catered workshops, such as our Intro to Python workshop with Consult for America.

How to Join:
You can learn more about the brotherhood by talking to our members at info sessions and club fairs, reaching out to brothers on social media, and keeping up with our events when the school year starts.

Go to our website: https://www.phichithetaupenn.com/ or Facebook page: https://www.facebook.com/PhiChiThetaUPenn to get updates on the rush timeline!

If you have questions, please reach out to Daniel Gordon at dagord@wharton.upenn.edu
